Dubcek, Supporters Victims Of Purge

PRAGUE (AP) — A weekend purge that swept reformer Alexander Dubcek and his supporters from Communist party and government leadership spread throughout Czechoslovakia.

Reports reached Prague of new regional shakeups from eastern Slovakia to northwest Bohemia in the Communist party and in the National Front, which controls organizations outside the party.

Shakeup Promised
Czechoslovakia's Communist bosses, toiling the pro-Soviet line, had promised a sweeping party shakeup of "social organizations, state and economic apparatus, science and culture" in announcing the purges Sunday.

President Ludvik Svoboda

said a new government would be announced today. Nine cabinet members were thrown out or had their jobs abolished.

Dubcek, 47, the former Communist party boss and still very popular, was ousted from the ruling Presidium and removed as president of the National Assembly. He retained his seat on the party's Central Committee.

Josef Smrkovsky, one of Dubcek's closest aides in the 1968 reform era from January until the Aug. 22 Soviet invasion, was removed as vice president of the National Assembly.

29 Supporters Out
A purge list showed that 29 men who backed Dubcek while he ran the country have left the Central Committee.

The Czechoslovak news agency CTK said party chief Gustav Husak told a plenary meeting of the Central Committee last Thursday that new membership cards will be issued and that a future plenary session will deal with such a proposal.

Husak said, according to CTK, that the card replacement would not only be "a formal act" but would rid the party of rank-and-file members "who are unable to get rid of views hostile to our teachings." He said every member's attitude regarding political views, work and character would be assessed.

Husak Among 9 Ousted
Smrkovsky and former Foreign Minister Jiri Hajek were among nine men expelled from the Central Committee—three of them being thrown out of the party itself. Nineteen other liberal members resigned under pressure. The 29th to leave was Planning Minister Frantisek Vlasak, who was expelled as an alternate member.

Josef Kempny, 49, a conservative, replaced Dubcek within the Presidium and was one of six deputy premiers named in the new government. Kempny also was among 13 new conservatives placed on the Central Committee in a distinct shift toward orthodox Communist control.

Dubcek's retention on the Central Committee was surprising in view of Husak's report accusing him of repeated errors in the months leading to the invasion by Warsaw Pact members.

Death by drowning was the ruling made by a Massachusetts medical examiner. No autopsy was performed.

Flanagan said that the alleged new evidence that Dinis provided in an amendment to his petition still was insufficient.

"The test of whether or not an autopsy will be ordered cannot be based upon guesswork or speculation," Flanagan told the court.

Decency Rally Target Of Some 50 Protestors

DETROIT (AP) — The 3,000 persons attending a Youth for Decency Rally at Cobo Arena Sunday were picketed by a band of some 50 protestors who accused those attending of advocating the wrong kind of decency.

The protest leader, Bill Allgever, 27, explained his objection: "Those who are genuinely concerned about decency are working to provide decent housing, decent education, decent jobs and decent treatment by courts and police for those who do not have them."

The rally was heavily attended by parents and older persons. The organizers, American Youth for Decency, provided a mixed program of rock, folk songs and concert band music designed to please everyone.

The rally was far better attended than a similar gathering at Olympia Stadium in Detroit in June. That event drew only 300.

"This turnout proves that Detroit is in pretty bad shape," said Sunday's rally organizer, Mary Jane Pouch, 20. "Other rallies like this in Miami and Baltimore drew 15,000 and 20,000 people."

W. German Coalition Aim Of Willy Brandt

Leader Seeks Post As New Chancellor

BONN (AP) — Foreign Minister Willy Brandt, whose Social Democrats showed the only gains in West Germany's federal elections Sunday, notified his parliament today he will try to form a new coalition government and seek election as chancellor.

Statement Issued

Brandt issued a statement saying: "Taking into account the results of the Bundestag election, in connection with the particularly controversial questions of the election campaign, I intend to seek the approval of the majority of the Bundestag for my election as federal chancellor."

At the same time, the Social Democrats notified federal President Gustav Heinemann they would try to form a coalition government with the small Free Democratic party, breaking their present alliance with Chancellor Kurt George Kiesinger's Christian Democrats.

If they are successful, Brandt succeeds Kiesinger, it would be the first German government in 39 years to be headed by the Social Democratic party.

42.7 Per Cent Of Votes
The Social Democratic party (SDP) won 42.7 per cent of the vote—a gain of 3.4 per cent since the 1965 elections. The Christian Democrats (CDU) won 46.1 per cent—a loss of 1.5 per cent and not enough for them to rule alone.

The biggest loser was Walter Scheel's Free Democratic party (FDP), which captured 5.8 per cent of the vote compared to 9.5 per cent in the last elections.

The Free Democrats now have 30 seats in the 496-seat Bundestag or lower house of the parliament. If Scheel agrees to form a coalition with Brandt, the two parties could outvote the Christian Democrats 254 to 212 in the Bundestag. It chooses the next chancellor.

Coalition Of Losers

Brandt said, "The Christian Democrats did not win but lost... a coalition between the Christian Democrats and the Free Democrats would be a coalition of losers. This would not correspond with the results."

Kiesinger declared himself satisfied with the outcome, but

U.S. Pledges Its Support To Solve World Problems

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon pledged today that the United States will do its part to help solve the world's trade and finance problems, "including dealing with the inflation which for too long has drained the vitality of this country."

Nixon's message was delivered by Secretary of the Treasury David M. Kennedy at the opening session of the annual meeting of four major international financial and development organizations.

Cooperation Needed

He said the four—the World Bank, the International Development Association, the International Finance Corporation and the International Monetary Fund—were "examples to all of international cooperation in action."

Their three major tasks, he said, were to restore the stability of price levels, to attack obstacles to international development, and to assure the financial framework for international trade and investments.

World Bank President Robert S. McNamara, in a speech to the meeting, said there are grim, worsening conditions in the underdeveloped, undereducated and overpopulated parts of the world. He said only a broad program of advice as well as money can help.

McNamara, the former U.S. secretary of defense completing his first full year as head of the Washington-based bank, said his findings on recent trips to Latin America, Asia and Africa confirmed the new course he charted last year.

"Everything I saw supported our decision in the bank to give a new emphasis to population planning, educational advance and agricultural growth," he said.

Interrelated Problems

But he said he also found that, while solving those problems is fundamental, "no such strategy will be complete unless it provides for an attack on the interrelated problems of unemployment, urbanization and industrialization."

McNamara has in the past put heavy emphasis on solving the problem of too-rapid population increase, and today called it "the greatest single obstacle to the economic and social advancement of the majority of peoples in the underdeveloped world."

New Department

The bank has set up a new Population Projects Department, which McNamara said already has found that "the immediate need is less for financial assistance than for technical advice and counsel."

For the rest of this week, the governors—who are finance ministers of central bankers of their countries—will hear speeches in public and negotiate behind closed doors on the problems of the world's money, trade and aid to underdeveloped nations.

Irish Keep Up Home Conflict

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — British commandos landed in Northern Ireland today to reinforce 3,000 troops trying to stem a new wave of firebombings and street battles between Roman Catholics and Protestants.

One hundred Royal Marine Commandos—part of a force cited during the Korean war for fighting its way to a surrounded U.S. Marine unit—arrived from their base in England shortly after midnight. Another 500 were due later today.

Belfast streets, still littered from weekend fighting in which 10 persons were injured, blazed anew with firebombs that set a bus and store alight. The Royal Ulster Constabulary arrested two men in connection with the arson.

A British army spokesman said: "The whole area is bubbling with tension."

Catholic districts in Belfast, where street barricades came down earlier this month after army guarantees of safety, were blocked again following the weekend violence. Residents threw up at least two dozen barricades.

Heavy Casualties Hanoi's Target

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command has a captured enemy document stating that Hanoi's goals are to inflict heavy American casualties to prevent de-escalation of the Vietnam war while the United States is in a position of strength, official sources said today.

The informants said the document was captured north of Saigon Sept. 5 and outlines a program for implementing the Communist Command's battle plans.

However, the disclosure was coupled with an announcement that enemy activity had dropped to its lowest level in Saigon and 11 surrounding provinces since the week ending last July 26.

One source said: "The enemy's intentions remain obscure and his immediate goals are unclear. There has been no evidence of a large-scale effort planned for the immediate future."

The captured document said heavy American losses in past campaigns had forced the United States to halt the bombing of North Vietnam and to withdraw 25,000 troops during the past summer.

It emphasized what it termed Viet Cong and North Vietnamese diplomatic successes compelling the United States to fight passively and negotiate at the same time in Paris.

Under one heading termed "conspiracies of the United States in the near future," the document said American policy is to de-Americanize the war gradually with emphasis placed on the preservation of U.S. manpower and material strength, trying to end the war in a strong position.

The document instructed enemy troops to destroy the South Vietnamese government and its administrative machinery; increase military action and expand the armed forces; heighten the role of the Viet Cong's revolutionary government; and increase civilian, military and political proselytizing.

Both Republicans and Democrats have sent political organizers and tacticians to the Sixth Congressional District, north of Boston.

Michael J. Harrington, 33, a Democratic state representative, is matched against William L. Saltonstall, 42, a Republican state senator who is the son of former U.S. Sen. Leverett Saltonstall.

Democrats are bidding to pick up a third traditionally Republican House seat to go with those they captured in special elections in Wisconsin and Montana earlier this year.

The contest is for the seat left vacant by the death of Rep. William H. Bates.

Although registered Democrats now outnumber Republicans in the district, it has never sent a Democrat to Congress. There are more independents than members of either party.

Former Vice President Humphrey, dispatched today, is the latest Democratic leader to appear on Harrington's behalf.

Sen. Edmund S. Muskie of Maine and Sen. George S. McGovern of South Dakota also have appeared with Harrington.

Sen. Fred R. Harris of Oklahoma, Democratic national chairman, said he planned to go, too.

Kennedy has made no appearance although the Massachusetts senator supplied two of his political lieutenants, taped endorsements for radio broadcast and provided fund raising assistance to Harrington.

"For now, the senator is not making any political appearances himself," said Richard C. Drayne, Kennedy's press secretary.

This is because of continuing court action in connection with the July 18 automobile accident in which Mary Jo Kopechne drowned.

A Republican official said the race was close, and the White House was watching.

The GOP Congressional Campaign Committee has sent money and men to the district but no national party figures.

Pontiac Scene Of Dynamite Blasts
PONTIAC (AP) — Three apparent dynamite blasts occurred Sunday night in separate parts of Pontiac.

Police said the first hit a supermarket at about 11 p.m. The second damaged a vacant garage building and police said they heard a third but they didn't locate its exact site.

Investigators said they have no explanation for the explosions, but are fairly certain the blasts were the work of amateurs. No injuries were reported.

Attorney For Kopechne Kin Raps Autopsy

WILKES-BARRE, Pa. (AP) — An attorney for Mary Jo Kopechne's parents said today the public's curiosity about how she died in Sen. Edward M. Kennedy's car should not justify an autopsy on her body.

"There must be proof of a crime and that an autopsy can prove or disprove the guilt or innocence of one suspected of criminal conduct," said Joseph F. Flanagan, attorney for the Kopechne's who moved for dismissal of a Massachusetts petition for exhumation and autopsy.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph A. Kopechne of Berkeley Heights, N.J., were in the courtroom of Common Pleas Judge Bernard C. Brominski when arguments began today. It was the first time they have been present during a legal fight against disturbing their daughter's grave.

Flanagan repeated his claim that Dist. Atty. Edmund Dinis of New Bedford, Mass., had failed to provide sufficient evidence that a crime was committed when Miss Kopechne died in the July 18 car accident, on

Demos Ready For Takeover In Congress

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Democrats already are beginning to choose up sides in a leadership contest that will erupt when Speaker John W. McCormack steps down.

There is no indication the 77-year-old McCormack has retirement in mind, but the possibility that he will make this Congress his last is enough to start the jockeying for position.

Because of McCormack's sensitivity on the subject nothing is being said or done openly, but it is a lively topic of discussion in private talks in a number of offices.

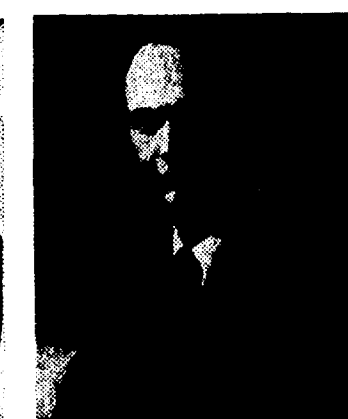

Majority Leader Carl Albert, who avoids such talk or meetings, appears solidly in line to succeed McCormack. The fight shapes up as one to replace Albert as majority leader—providing that Democrats still have control of the House when the showdown comes.

Moderate, urban-oriented Democrats are determined to put one of their members in the position. This would mean shunting aside Rep. Hale Boggs of Louisiana, who as party whip is a rung behind Albert on the current leadership ladder.

The more conservative Democrats, largely southern based, would like to see a majority leader closer to their views. For years the most likely candidate of conservative Democrats has been Rep. Wilbur D. Mills of Arkansas, chairman of the Ways and Means Committee. But Mills' ambition is to be speaker, not majority leader.

Astronauts Preparing For 'Good Earth' Tour

HOUSTON (AP) — The three Americans who went "in peace for all mankind" to the moon embark today on a world tour to promote good will on earth.

Bearing personal greetings to foreign heads of state from President Nixon, Apollo 11 astronauts Neil Armstrong, Edwin E. Aldrin Jr. and Michael Collins are scheduled to visit 22 nations in 38 days.

Plaques For All
They will present to each country a replica of the moon landing plaque bearing the inscription "We came in peace for all mankind" and signed by each astronaut and the President.

The astronauts, scheduled to leave Houston today for the first stop in Mexico City, will be accompanied by their wives. The three are the first astronauts to undertake a world tour in behalf of the United States and the first three-man American space team to go abroad. Their itinerary does not—with the exception of Yugoslavia—take them to Communist controlled nations or to the warring countries of the Middle East, although they have scheduled stops in Iran and Turkey.

Col. Frank Borman, commander of the Apollo 8 lunar mission, visited the Soviet Union this spring, prior to the Apollo 11 moon shot.

In addition to replicas of the moon landing plaque, the astronauts will present heads of state with metal discs bearing messages—each reduced to the size of a pinhead—from 73 nations wishing the Apollo 11 mission success. The Original also was left on the moon.

Nixon Greets Trio

No samples of lunar material gathered by Armstrong and Aldrin will be taken on the tour, National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials said.

Nixon telephoned Armstrong at his Seabrook, Tex., home Sunday to wish him and the others luck on the trip. The President invited the astronauts and their wives to dinner at the White House on the day they returned home, Nov. 5.

From Mexico City they will go to Bogota, Columbia; Buenos Aires, Argentina; and Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, in South America before flying to the Canary Islands Oct. 4.

In western Europe they have stops in Madrid, Paris, Amsterdam, Brussels, Oslo, Cologne, Berlin, London and Rome. After visiting Belgrade Oct. 18-19 they go to Ankara, Turkey; Kinshasa, the Congo; and Tehran, Iran. Asian and Pacific stops are Bombay, India; Dacca, Pakistan; Bangkok, Thailand; Darwin and Sydney, Australia; Guam; Seoul; and Tokyo. They will stop at Honolulu enroute to Houston.

The three are the first astronauts to undertake a world tour in behalf of the United States and the first three-man American space team to go abroad.

Their itinerary does not—with the exception of Yugoslavia—take them to Communist controlled nations or to the warring countries of the Middle East, although they have scheduled stops in Iran and Turkey.

Col. Frank Borman, commander of the Apollo 8 lunar mission, visited the Soviet Union this spring, prior to the Apollo 11 moon shot.

In addition to replicas of the moon landing plaque, the astronauts will present heads of state with metal discs bearing messages—each reduced to the size of a pinhead—from 73 nations wishing the Apollo 11 mission success. The Original also was left on the moon.

Nixon Greets Trio

No samples of lunar material gathered by Armstrong and Aldrin will be taken on the tour, National Aeronautics and Space Administration officials said.

Nixon telephoned Armstrong at his Seabrook, Tex., home Sunday to wish him and the others luck on the trip. The President invited the astronauts and their wives to dinner at the White House on the day they returned home, Nov. 5.

From Mexico City they will go to Bogota, Colombia; Buenos Aires, Argentina, and Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, in South America before flying to the Canary Islands Oct. 4.

In western Europe they have stops in Madrid, Paris, Amsterdam, Brussels, Oslo, Cologne, Berlin, London and Rome. After visiting Belgrade Oct. 18-19 they go to Ankara, Turkey; Kinshasa, The Congo, and Tehran, Iran. Asian and Pacific stops are Bombay, India; Dacca, Pakistan; Bangkok, Thailand; Darwin and Sydney, Australia; Guam; Seoul, and Tokyo. They will stop at Honolulu enroute to Houston.

Irish Keep Up Home Conflict

BELFAST, Northern Ireland (AP) — British commandos landed in Northern Ireland today to reinforce 3,000 troops trying to stem a new wave of firebombings and street battles between Roman Catholics and Protestants.

One hundred Royal Marine Commandos—part of a force cited during the Korean war for fighting its way to a surrounded U.S. Marine unit—arrived from their base in England shortly after midnight. Another 500 were due later today.

Belfast streets, still littered from weekend fighting in which 10 persons were injured, blazed anew with firebombs that set a bus and store alight. The Royal Ulster Constabulary arrested two men in connection with the arson.

A British army spokesman said: "The whole area is bubbling with tension."

Catholic districts in Belfast, where street barricades came down earlier this month after army guarantees of safety, were blocked again following the weekend violence. Residents threw up at least two dozen barricades.

U.P. Population To Gain 7,000, Projection Shows

A population gain of nearly 7,000 persons from 1960 to 1970 is encompassed for the Upper Peninsula in County population projections prepared by the Bureau of Planning and Program Development and the Budget Division of the Bureau of the Budget of Michigan.

Total population for the U.P. is estimated at 312,949 in 1970, compared with 305,952 in 1960.

Delta County, according to the projections, will drop from 34,298 population in 1960 to 33,924 in 1970, a loss of 374 persons.

Ten counties will lose population, while five will show increases in 1970.

Service Stressed At Conference Of Mobil Dealers

Mr. and Mrs. Al Houle, Mr. and Mrs. Mac Flodin, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Barron, John Walch, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Robitaille and Mr. and Mrs. Rene Robitaille were among more than 1,000 dealers and their wives, wholesalers and key company executives who attended the Mobil dealers' convention in Chicago recently.

The convention explored the opportunities of the next decade in exhibits, speeches, audio-visual presentations and seminars. The program is made up on recommendations by Mobil's dealer advisory committee.

This year the subject of the main business session was employee relations, including personnel recruitment, a problem common to all retailers in the nation. Special attention also was given to Mobil's continuing effort to help its dealers provide the best possible service to millions of customers throughout the United States.

Leader Seeks Post As New Chancellor

declined comment on coalition possibilities.

Neither Brandt nor Kiesinger completely ruled out the possibility of renewing their present partnership, although Brandt favors the coalition with the Free Democrats.

Formal coalition talks were not expected to begin before Tuesday. The present government stays in office until Oct. 19.

Mark Key Issue

One key issue in the election was the revaluation of the German mark and confusion still surrounded it today. The Economics Ministry announced the money markets would open and they did for a brief period. Then they closed again when the government ordered the central bank to withdraw from dealings.

The announcement came after a meeting between Kiesinger, who opposes revaluation, and Economics Minister Karl Schiller, a Social Democrat, who favors it. Kiesinger had wanted the closing of exchanges, begun Thursday, to continue today. Schiller had opposed it.

Area Horsemen Compete In Show

Mr. and Mrs. Edward "Chuck" Olsen played host to the area horsemen in what has become an annual "Fun and Pleasure" show at their Radio Ranch.

Top riders from Escanaba's 4-H Commencement, Gladstone's Circle 4-H Club and other junior riders participated. At the noon break, the Olsens served lunch to all the riders and guests. They were assisted by friends, who also helped as time keepers and judges.

The show included seven events, barrel racing, pole bending, speed and action, obstacle race, monkey barrel race, spear the ring and a sack race. Closing out the show was a "Treasure Hunt" on horseback.

Ribbons were awarded for each even and the five top riders in the show received valuable prizes. Newcomer Mike Erickson headed the list with 19 points, followed closely by Scott Haack with 15, Dennis Dubord 12, Sue Olsen 9 and Patty Strem 8.

Biggest loss will occur in Gogebic County, where the projections for 1970 show only 18,917 people compared with 24,370 in 1960, a decline of 5,453.

Marquette To Gain

Other losers will be Alger, Dickinson, Houghton, Iron, Keweenaw, Luce, Mackinac and Schoolcraft counties.

Schoolcraft County will drop from 8,953 to 7,903.

Biggest gains, the projections show, will be in Marquette County where a population of 56,154 will increase to 69,981 by 1970, and in Chippewa County, where the 1960 population of 32,655 will grow to 36,320.

Except for Marquette and Chippewa County no major gains in population in Upper Peninsula counties are expected through 1990.

Population of Marquette County in 1990 is projected at 69,981, up over 42,000 from the 1960 census figures. Chippewa County population is projected at 44,010 in 1990.

Less population in 1990 than in 1960 is predicted for Alger, Gogebic, Houghton, Keweenaw, Luce, and Schoolcraft Counties.

3,000 For Delta

By 1990, Delta County is expected to register a gain of nearly 3,000 people, from the 34,298 figure of 1960 to 37,167. Schoolcraft County would drop from 8,953 to 7,951.

Total population of the Upper Peninsula in 1990 is estimated at 363,877, an increase of 59,298 from 1960. Most of that increase would be in Marquette and Chippewa counties, according to the projections.

Plan To Expand Terrace Tabled

Marvin Pouliot of Escanaba, president of Vacationland Inc., announced today that plans to go ahead with the recently announced major expansion of facilities at the Terrace Motor Inn have been canceled.

It was decided at a meeting of the corporation directors that all plans for the expansion program would be tabled until a county ordinance could be adopted that would firmly guarantee that odors from the proposed kraft pulp mill, planned by Mead Corp. for its Escanaba division, would not destroy the existing tourist business or upset the economic balance of our area, Pouliot said.

It was further resolved that if a county ordinance were adopted that did not embody the strength and structure necessary to establish complete confidence in county environmental control, that expansion plans would be postponed until the new kraft mill was built and proven not to be a detriment to our tourist industry, he added.

The tabled expansion plans included a convention center consisting of a 200 room Hilton Inn, olympic size swimming pool, shopping arcade, and a lake marina at an estimated cost of $2.7 million.

Pouliot stated that the Terrace Motor Inn & Supper Club will continue doing business, as in the past, with existing facilities.

Palmcook Hurt In Accident

A Gladstone man is listed in good condition this morning at St. Francis Hospital following an accident that occurred at 1:55 a.m. Sunday on County Rd. 426 near the Mead Paper Co.

According to State Police, James Palmcook, 28, 714 Delta Ave., Gladstone, was headed north on 426 when he failed to negotiate a curve, ran off the road, hit a tree and rolled over.

He was taken to St. Francis by City Ambulance, troopers reported. Police are still investigating the incident.

Murder Charge

HIGHLAND PARK (AP) — John O'Leary, 21, of Highland Park, faces pretrial examination Oct. 7 on a first-degree murder charge in the beating death of a 3-year-old boy for whom he had been baby-sitting. Police said O'Leary had been caring for the child Shawn Romo, because the boy's parents were in jail on a marijuana possession charge.

Critics Stand Firm While Walls Crumble

WASHINGTON (AP) — Most congressmen agree something must be done about the historic but crumbling sandstone walls on the west front of the United States Capitol, but there is a sharp disagreement over the proper solution.

At stake is survival of the last remaining exterior work by early American artisans who built the Capitol.

House Provides Money — The Senate is considering a House-passed measure to provide planning money for a massive extension of the Capitol building—construction that would bury the walls.

Approval of the planning funds would virtually assure extension.

The central west facade would be extended up to 88 feet, creating 4½ acres of new space for restaurants, toilets, visitor centers, meeting rooms and numerous private offices for congressmen.

Sen. Stephen Young, D-Ohio, has accused the extension proponents, led by House Speaker John W. McCormack, D-Mass., and Capitol Architect J. George Stewart, of trying to "make the Capitol into a king-sized Howard Johnson's."

The original Capitol was designed by Dr. William Thornton, a Virgin Island-born Philadelphia physician who was selected by George Washington.

It was built principally by James Hoban, the Irish emigrant who constructed the first wing and also designed and built the White House; Benjamin Latrobe, who added a second wing and restored the Capitol after the British burned it in 1814, and Charles Bulfinch of Boston, who put up the center section and rotunda.

Much of the historic work has been sacrificed in previous expansions.

When the east front was extended a decade ago, the sculptured panel above the central portico carved by Luigi Persico on a design by President John Quincy Adams was lost to the Capitol. Also carted off were two decayed statues of War and Peace by Persico as well as a number of columns.

Everything else was covered over by the new walls, except for a couple of window casings which were allowed to show through into a new inside corridor.

The old work was carefully copied in more durable marble, and the same will be done on the west side. But critics of the idea ask just how much a replica is worth. Try telling an art collector you will give him a fresh new copy for his wrinkled old Rembrandt, they say.

Sandstone Used — The original portions of the Capitol were built of sandstone at Washington's insistence because it was cheap and the young republic was hard pressed for cash.

"All the original architects recommended marble," said Mario E. Campioli, Stewart's assistant. "If they had used marble, perhaps we wouldn't be having the trouble we are having today."

Beside the burning by the British, the Capitol suffered another major fire in 1851 and a gas explosion in 1898.

U.P. Population To Gain 7,000, Projection Shows

A population gain of nearly 7,000 persons from 1960 to 1970 is encompassed for the Upper Peninsula in County population projections prepared by the Bureau of Planning and Program Development and the Budget Division of the Bureau of the Budget of Michigan.

Total population for the U.P. is estimated at 312,949 in 1970, compared with 305,952 in 1960.

Delta County, according to the projections, will drop from 34,298 population in 1960 to 33,924 in 1970, a loss of 374 persons.

Ten counties will lose population, while five will show increases in 1970.

Service Stressed At Conference Of Mobil Dealers

Mr. and Mrs. Al Houle, Mr. and Mrs. Mac Flodin, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Barron, John Walsh, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Robitaille and Mr. and Mrs. Rene Robitaille were among more than 1,000 dealers and their wives, wholesalers and key company executives who attended the Mobil dealers' convention in Chicago recently.

The convention explored the opportunities of the next decade in exhibits, speeches, audio-visual presentations and seminars. The program is made up on recommendations by Mobil's dealer advisory committee.

This year the subject of the main business session was employee relations, including personnel recruitment, a problem common to all retailers in the nation. Special attention also was given to Mobil's continuing effort to help its dealers provide the best possible service to millions of customers throughout the United States.

declined comment on coalition possibilities.

Neither Brandt nor Kiesinger completely ruled out the possibility of renewing their present partnership, although Brandt favors the coalition with the Free Democrats.

Formal coalition talks were not expected to begin before Tuesday. The present government stays in office until Oct. 19.

Mark Key Issue

One key issue in the election was the revaluation of the German mark and confusion still surrounded it today. The Economics Ministry announced the money markets would open and they did for a brief period. Then they closed again when the government ordered the central bank to withdraw from dealings.

The announcement came after a meeting between Kiesinger, who opposes revaluation, and Economics Minister Karl Schiller, a Social Democrat, who favors it. Kiesinger had wanted the closing of exchanges, begun Thursday, to continue today. Schiller had opposed it.

Area Horsemen Compete In Show

Mr. and Mrs. Edward "Chuck" Olsen played host to the area horsemen in what has become an annual "Fun and Pleasure" show at their Radio Ranch.

Top riders from Escanaba's 4-H Commencement, Gladstone's Circle 4-H Club and other junior riders participated. At the noon break, the Olsens served lunch to all the riders and guests. They were assisted by friends, who also helped as time keepers and judges.

The show included seven events, barrel racing, pole bending, speed and action, obstacle race, monkey barrel race, spear the ring and a sack race. Closing out the show was a "Treasure Hunt" on horseback.

Ribbons were awarded for each even and the five top riders in the show received valuable prizes. Newcomer Mike Erickson headed the list with 19 points, followed closely by Scott Haack with 15, Dennis Dubord 12, Sue Olsen 9 and Patty Strem 8.

Biggest loss will occur in Gogebic County, where the projections for 1970 show only 18,917 people compared with 24,370 in 1960, a decline of 5,453.

Marquette To Gain

Other losers will be Alger, Dickinson, Houghton, Iron, Keweenaw, Luce, Mackinac and Schoolcraft counties.

Schoolcraft County will drop from 8,953 to 7,903.

Biggest gains, the projections show, will be in Marquette County where a population of 56,154 will increase to 69,981 by 1970, and in Chippewa County, where the 1960 population of 32,655 will grow to 36,320.

Except for Marquette and Chippewa County no major gains in population in Upper Peninsula counties are expected through 1990.

Population of Marquette County in 1990 is projected at 99,700, up over 42,000 from the 1960 census figures. Chippewa County population is projected at 44,010 in 1990.

Less population in 1990 than in 1960 is predicted for Alger, Gogebic, Houghton, Keweenaw, Luce, and Schoolcraft Counties.

3,000 For Delta

By 1990, Delta County is expected to register a gain of nearly 3,000 people, from the 34,298 figure of 1960 to 37,167. Schoolcraft County would drop from 8,953 to 7,551.

Total population of the Upper Peninsula in 1990 is estimated at 363,871, an increase of 50,923 from 1960. Most of that increase would be in Marquette and Chippewa counties, according to the projections.

The New Mets

Is it possible that the New York Mets really could be the World Champions of baseball?

The New York Mets? A team that in the past seven seasons has found more way to baseball games than any team in the history of the game? A team that in those seasons hadn't finished better than ninth in a 10-team league? A team that the fans of New York adored because of their ineptitude?

It could happen!
The Marvelous Mets, who only a month ago trailed the Chicago Cubs by 10 games, won the Eastern Division championship in the National League last week for the right to meet the Western Division champion in a best-of-five playoff to determine the National League's representative in the World Series. And, trite as the saying is, anything can happen in a short series.

The Mets won the division title by playing superb baseball in the past month — they swept a series from last year's league champion St. Louis to clinch the championship — while the Chicago Cubs, leader all year, played like the Mets of old. But despite the success, the Mets did retain some of their character.

Who but the Mets could strike out 19 times in a single game, an all time record, and yet win. Who but the Mets could have a no-hitter thrown against them one day, and then come back and sweep a double-header from the same team the next. Who but the Mets could lose 10 of the 12 games in the season series with Houston and still win the pennant.

The last comeback in baseball which might be compared to the Mets of 1969 was by the New York Giants of 1951, the year that Bobby Thompson clubbed his famous home run off Ralph Branca to win a playoff from the Brooklyn Dodgers. In that year, the Giants made up 13½ games on the Dodgers in the final month and a half of the season.

Maybe a little of the old Giants rubbed off on the Mets while they were playing in the old Polo Grounds, home of the Giants before they moved to San Francisco. Since then, of course, the Mets have moved into beautiful Shea Stadium.

It would be poetic justice of a sort if the San Francisco Giants emerge as champions of the west to face the Mets, just the same as it would have been a poetic justice if the Chicago Cubs could have been matched against the Atlanta Braves, renewing the rivalry established between the teams when the Braves were entrenched in Milwaukee.

From here, the Mets have to be the sentimental choice for all the glory.

If they pull it off, it would be a little bit like Millsaps beating Notre Dame on the football field — it isn't really expected, but it's nice when it happens.

'No More Vietnams?'

"No More Vietnams" is a slogan which has taken on the meaning that all the United States has to do is get out of Vietnam and that will be the end of brushfire wars which require our attention.

The war in Vietnam, however, is a product of Communist aggression which afflicts many countries around the world. It is one in a series of Red wars of national liberation. A pullout by the United States might mean the end of future "Vietnams" but only in the narrow sense that there would be no further American involvement in the defense of other countries facing Communist subversion or outright military assault.

In the broader term, however, there will be more "Vietnams" if we mean more guerrilla insurrections directed at the overthrow of non-Communist governments. Burma is a case.

Burma lies to the west of South Vietnam in Southeast Asia. In spite of its socialistic, anti-Western government and its constant appeasement and condemnation of Peking and Hanoi-backed guerrillas in nearby Laos, Thailand, Cambodia and, of course, South Vietnam. Burma is itself now under attack by Red insurrectionists. In all of these countries the Communists feed on ethnic animosities to build up their movements. Burmese officials estimate there are some 20,000 insurgents, many of whom are non-Communists but still ripe for exploitation because of their hatred of the ruling order.

Like the rest of the non-Communists in Southeast Asia, the Burmese are feeling increased pressure exerted from Peking and Hanoi and aided by the Soviets. With the bombing halt of the north and United States withdrawal from South Vietnam, Hanoi has been able to divert troops to the other "Vietnams" in Southeast Asia.

There will be "No More Vietnams," meaning no more Communist-led insurrections, only when the United States makes it clear that wars of national liberation are unprofitable for the Communists.

Peninsula Potpourri

Official opposition to a plan which would put the western two-thirds of the Upper Peninsula in the Central time zone (as advocated by Ironwood City Commission) was voiced by members of the Ontonagon County Board of Supervisors. Board members not only expressed opposition to the proposed time change, they also requested the Ironwood city manager and commission to discontinue efforts to change the time system for the western two-thirds of the U. P. The board said it was taking note of the attitude of the people of Ontonagon County in having one time the year-round. The proposed time plan, as outlined by Ironwood City Manager Kenneth E. Long and adopted by the Ironwood City Commission earlier this month, would set the boundary between Central and Eastern Standard times in a remote area of the eastern Upper Peninsula, where it would have little effect on population centers. The dividing line, as proposed by Long, would be drawn between Alger-Luce and between Schoolcraft-Mackinac counties, which is a straight line between Lakes Michigan and Superior.

A PERSONAL CALL

Competition May Save Nation's Peace Corps

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN
CARACAS, Venezuela — Competition, as every economist who is worth his salt knows, is the life of trade. It is also the life of almost any type of social activity.

So here, in Caracas, one sees what could be the beginning of a drama that may save the U. S. Peace Corps from degenerating into the inefficient impertinence that it was threatening to become in the last days of the Lyndon Johnson regime when African governments were sending our young men home.

The Caracas story goes back to the pioneering work of Joseph Blatchford, a crack tennis player who caught a glimpse of Latin American poverty when he was making a sports tour of countries south of the border more than a decade ago.

Joe, who had led a relatively sheltered life in Beverly Hills, Calif., as a boy, resolved to start his private peace corps in the early Sixties, at the very time when another gilded young man, John F. Kennedy, was contemplating a public peace corps. Joe began with his Accion en Venezuela, raising capital in the U. S. to send young people into the Caracas hillside barrios to organize local self-help projects in road-building, housing, and school and community center construction. The idea was to start something, then turn it over to the barrio people themselves.

After a shaky beginning Joe Blatchford's dedicated organization began to find itself. It did so well in Venezuela that it could afford to take its best men and send them into the slums of Rio de Janeiro and Sao Paulo in Brazil and Lima in Peru to create an Accion International.

Back in Caracas, fiercely tenacious barrio people took up from where Joe's boys left off. They tell the story in the Barrio Isaias Medina Angarita of a shrewd Indian woman from the Andes, Josefina Hernandez, who can't sign her name but who has taken the measure of the politicians for what they are.

Before the last election in Venezuela, Josefina Hernandez demanded help from the government in continuing some of the barrio improvements that she and her followers had been making for themselves. The politicians promised to do it after the election.

"No," she said, "you do it before."

The politicians got the message: they built her a macadamized road where only a muddy gully existed in the rainy season, and they finished a school by working around the clock through the two weeks before election day.

And then the politicians who had done this lost the election. The new government has let the swimming pool grow a nasty surface cover of green slime, but the road and the school have survived the change in administration. Presumably, when the next election looms, the swimming pool will get renewed attention.

Accion, of course, is not in politics, but it has taught people an attitude. They want results. As the years rolled by, Joe Blatchford, along with Jerry Holcombe, Accion's new leader in the New York City international headquarters, and Miss Bamberger, the local lieutenant in Caracas, became convinced that the barrios — and the favelas of Rio in Brazil — could use a more sophisticated type of community building guidance. The accent has shifted to technical training in a variety of directions.

In Caracas, Accion has organized seven savings and loan co-operatives, and is contemplating two more in the near future. Money saved in the barrios by the people goes out again for home improvements, tools, education and medical expense. In Rio de Janeiro, IBM has started an executive management training course, open to youthful aspirants who have learned the virtues of self-help from Accion.

Accion, as a private peace corps, now feels it needs an older type of volunteer from North America, one that has already achieved technical proficiency in a chosen profession. Curiously, the public Peace Corps, long a plaything of young idealists who didn't have much beyond enthusiasm to contribute, has reached the same decision. It did this before President Richard Nixon drafted Joe Blatchford from his private Accion en Venezuela to head the government Peace Corps.

In effect, will be competing as a public servant with his old private organization to see who can do the best job.

It should be an interesting and instructive competition. Now won't somebody please persuade Congress to legitimize such things as a private postal service to compete with public service?

And why not a voucher system to let poor people use their tax money for private schools? We'd soon find out who can do the better job.

Letters To The Press

THERMAL SHOCK

Regarding the Associated Press story of Sept. 14 by Frank Mainville "The recent death of chinook salmon in Muskegon Lake may only be a harbinger of days to come..." and attributing the fish deaths to "shock when they encountered hot water... below 15 feet downstream from a power plant," please be advised that the Grand Rapids Press UPI (United Press International) story of Saturday, Sept. 6, headlined "Chinooks Dying in Doves at Muskegon Lake" was apparently Mr. Mainville's source for the lead of Sept. 14. The Grand Rapids Press followed with an article by Ray Voss, Sept. 9, which I quote:

"Muskegon River anglers needn't be panicked by the news report that 'great numbers of chinook salmon died in Muskegon Lake of thermal shock.'"

"John Trimberger, district fish biologist for the Department of Natural Resources, says the number actually was 'insignificant' in terms to the total fall run of chinooks in the Muskegon and hasn't really started yet. He was able to check out 'about 30' and that's a long way from a disaster."

"Entering the warm water of Muskegon Lake from cooler Lake Michigan, the too-anxious fish could not find tolerable temperatures and sufficient oxygen at the same depth, mostly because they arrived too early. The main run, which is controlled largely by temperatures, isn't apt to happen until the water cools off both in Lake Michigan shallows and Muskegon Lake. Even if things are not right then, a serious spawning run of salmon could whip right through that lake in half an hour if they take to — and they'll want to. Steelhead trout, which usually run a little later, never have had any trouble in Muskegon Lake and the main swarms of salmon aren't apt to, either."

Fish biologist Trimberger, quoted in the Mainville story, told Consumers Power Co. that "the thermal shock he was alluding to was strictly the strong temperature differential between the two lakes..." normal for this time of the year. Trimberger said he did not have the B. C. Cobb plant (Consumers Power, Muskegon) in mind when he wrote it was quoted him in the article. In all, 30 fish were found four miles downstream of the plant. All lakes in the area had temperatures in the 80s that week.

We suggest that the wire story by Mr. Mainville was extremely damaging in the light of the current controversy over the supposed effects of hot water from nuclear plants. It should be noted that Consumers Power Chairman of the Board A. H. Aymond has gone on record as saying "we avoid any action or practice that would damage our environment... Consumers Power has committed itself to orderly research of the environment of conditions at various power plants — present and future — and is fully committed to maintaining or improving the areas where it has generating facilities."

STOP, LOOK, LISTEN

Air, water and sunlight are our three most important sources of survival. We cannot have one without the other.

Air is our most valuable resource. Without air, man could no longer survive. Water and sunlight would be second.

Clean air seems to be the big question in the Escanaba and Gladstone area. How do we control and maintain dirty air?

I was born and raised in this area. I attended Escanaba Area High School. I am deeply concerned about Escanaba, its growth, its people and its air.

The paper mill has done a lot to help the growth of this community. The expansion will produce more work for our people and more paper products will be produced which in turn will bring in a greater market for paper.

Please don't get me wrong. I am all for clean air. I live only three miles from the mill.

This past summer I spent three months in a city. I know what it's like to breathe in West led the king of spades, then shifted to the ten of hearts at trick two. Dummy played the deuce, and when East took the ace, Sommervelt dropped the king!

Declarer knew from the bidding that the ten of hearts was a singleton, and he furthermore realized that if he played the seven on the ace, East would likewise read the ten as a singleton and return a heart to put the contract down one.

East quite naturally found it hard to believe that Sommervelt had another heart and he therefore returned a spade in an effort to score his partner's ace of spades as the setting trick. Declarer ruffed and now made the contract by means of a squeeze. He began by playing six rounds of trumps, at which point this became the position:

Sommervelt then cashed his last trump. West could not spare the ace of spades, so he parted with a club. Declarer thereupon discarded the useless queen of spades from dummy.

East was similarly pressed for a discard. He could not afford to release the queen of hearts, which would make South's seven a trick, so he also discarded a club on the trump.

As a result, Sommervelt scored the last three tricks in clubs and thus brought home the contract. His spectacular false-card of the king of hearts and the ensuing double squeeze were both richly rewarded.

Missing Hubby May Be Dead After All

Dear Ann Landers: This might be the strangest letter you've ever received. I can't sign it because I may be in trouble with the law.

My husband drank a lot and ran around with women. I don't believe in divorce and we had children who had to be considered Three years ago my husband disappeared. He had done this before and always turned up in another town. The excuse was the same. He got drunk and didn't know where he was or what he was doing. After he sobered up it took him another few days to work up the courage to come home and face me. I thought this was another one of those episodes. But after two weeks I got scared and called the police.

The next day they found my husband's wallet on the bank of a river. They dredged the river but couldn't find the body. I called the minister the following week and we had a dignified memorial service. The insurance company sent a check and I moved to a better apartment. These last three years have been very peaceful and happy ones for me and the children.

Yesterday I was looking at a baseball game on TV and I could swear I saw my husband in the crowd at Fenway Park in Boston. He was with a nice looking woman and they were laughing and drinking pop.

Should I notify the police? What about the insurance money? Most of it has been spent. Am I in trouble? Please advise me. — Shaken

Dear Shaken: Call the police and tell them. There's a good chance you saw a man who resembled your husband. The insurance company should be notified, too.

You have done nothing wrong, so relax. If there was an error, it was not yours.

Dear Ann Landers: My boyfriend is leaving for the service in a few weeks. He gave me his high school ring and told me we should consider ourselves engaged. I asked what that meant and he said, "It means you will wait for me and not go with anyone else when I am gone."

My parents are very much against the whole thing. They say I should not be tied down — that I am too young to make a decision as big as this. I am 17, Ann, and very mature for my age.

When I told my boyfriend what my parents said, he got mad and yelled, "The least they can do for a guy going to Vietnam is to keep his morale up by letting him know he has something to come home for."

Now it's gotten to be a real hassle between my parents and my boyfriend. I don't know what to do. Please guide me. Kenton, Ohio

Dear Ken: Your folks have given you good advice. I hope you take it. If it's the real thing, it will survive the separation. A boy who tries to hang onto a girl by appealing to her sense of patriotism exhibits a tremendous lack of confidence. Moreover he is not being fair to her.

The New Mets

Is it possible that the New York Mets really could be the World Champions of baseball?

The New York Mets? A team that in past seven seasons has found more baseball games than any team in the history of the game? A team that in those seasons hadn't finished better than ninth in a 10-team league? A team that the fans of New York adored because of their ineptitude?

It could happen!

The Marvelous Mets, who only a month ago trailed the Chicago Cubs by 10 games, won the Eastern Division championship in the National League last week for the right to meet the Western Division champion in a best-of-five playoff to determine the National League's representative in the World Series. And, true as the saying is, anything can happen in a short series.

The Mets won the division title by playing superb baseball in the past month — they swept a series from last year's league champion St. Louis to clinch the championship — while the Chicago Cubs, leader all year, played like the Mets of old. But despite the success, the Mets did retain some of their character.

Who but the Mets could strike out 19 times in a single game, an all time record, and yet win. Who but the Mets could have a no-hitter thrown against them one day, and then come back and sweep a double-header from the same team the next. Who but the Mets could lose 10 of the 12 games in the season series with Houston and still win the pennant.

The last comeback in baseball which might be compared to the Mets of 1969 was by the New York Giants of 1951, the year that Bobby Thompson clubbed his famous home run off Ralph Branca to win a playoff from the Brooklyn Dodgers. In that year, the Giants made up 13½ games on the Dodgers in the final month and a half of the season.

Maybe a little of the old Giants rubbed off on the Mets while they were playing in the old Polo Grounds, home of the Giants before they moved to San Francisco. Since then, of course, the Mets have moved into beautiful Shea Stadium.

It would be poetic justice of a sort if the San Francisco Giants emerge as champions of the west to face the Mets, just the same as it would have been a poetic justice if the Chicago Cubs could have been matched against the Atlanta Braves, renewing the rivalry established between the teams when the Braves were entrenched in Milwaukee.

From here, the Mets have to be the sentimental choice for all the glory.

If they pull it off, it would be a little bit like Millsaps beating Notre Dame on the football field — it isn't really expected, but it's nice when it happens.

'No More Vietnams?'

"No More Vietnams" is a slogan which has taken on the meaning that all the United States has to do is get out of Vietnam and that will be the end of brushfire wars which require our attention.

The war in Vietnam, however, is a product of Communist aggression which afflicts many countries around the world. It is one in a series of Red wars of national liberation. A pullout by the United States might mean the end of future "Vietnams" but only in the narrow sense that there would be no further American involvement in the defense of other countries facing Communist subversion or outright military assault.

In the broader term, however, there will be more "Vietnams" if we mean more guerrilla insurrections directed at the overthrow of non-Communist governments. Burma is a case.

Burma lies to the west of South Vietnam in Southeast Asia. In spite of its socialistic, anti-Western government and its constant appeasement and condemnation of Peking and Hanoi-backed guerrillas in nearby Laos, Thailand, Cambodia and, of course, South Vietnam. Burma is itself now under attack by Red insurrectionists. In all of these countries the Communists feed on ethnic animosities to build up their movements. Burmese officials estimate there are some 20,000 insurgents, many of whom are non-Communists but still ripe for exploitation because of their hatred of the ruling order.

Like the rest of the non-Communists in Southeast Asia, the Burmese are feeling increased pressure exerted from Peking and Hanoi and aided by the Soviets. With the bombing halt of the north and United States withdrawal from South Vietnam, Hanoi has been able to divert troops to the other "Vietnams" in Southeast Asia.

There will be "No More Vietnams," meaning no more Communist-led insurrections, only when the United States makes it clear that wars of national liberation are unprofitable for the Communists.

Peninsula Potpourri

Official opposition to a plan which would put the western two-thirds of the Upper Peninsula in the Central time zone (as advocated by Ironwood City Commission) was voiced by members of the Ontonagon County Board of Supervisors. Board members not only expressed opposition to the proposed time change, they also requested the Ironwood city manager and commission to discontinue efforts to change the time system for the western two-thirds of the U. P. The board said it was taking note of the attitude of the people of Ontonagon County in having one time the year-round. The proposed time plan, as outlined by Ironwood City Manager Kenneth E. Long and adopted by the Ironwood City Commission earlier this month, would set the boundary between Central and Eastern Standard times in a remote area of the eastern Upper Peninsula, where it would have little effect on population centers. The dividing line, as proposed by Long, would be drawn between Alger-Luce and between Schoolcraft-Mackinac counties, which is a straight line between Lakes Michigan and Superior.

Competition May Save Nation's Peace Corps

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN
CARACAS, Venezuela — Competition, as every economist who is worth his salt knows, is the life of trade. It is also the life of almost any type of social activity.

So here, in Caracas, one sees what could be the beginning of a drama that may save the U. S. Peace Corps from degenerating into the inefficient impotence that it was threatening to become in the last days of the Lyndon Johnson regime when African governments were sending our young men home.

The Caracas story goes back to the pioneering work of Joseph Blatchford, a crack tennis player who caught a glimpse of Latin American poverty when he was making a sports tour of countries south of the border more than a decade ago.

Joe, who had led a relatively sheltered life in Beverly Hills, Calif., as a boy, resolved to start his private peace corps in the early Sixties, at the very time when another gilded young man, John F. Kennedy, was contemplating a public peace corps. Joe began with his Accion en Venezuela, raising capital in the U. S. to send young people into the Caracas hillside barrios to organize local self-help projects in road-building, housing, and school and community center construction. The idea was to start something, then turn it over to the barrio people themselves.

After a shaky beginning Joe Blatchford's dedicated organization began to find itself. It did so well in Venezuela that it could afford to take its best men and send them into the slums of Rio de Janeiro and Sao Paulo in Brazil and Lima in Peru to create an Action International.

Back in Caracas, fiercely tenacious barrio people took up from where Joe's boys left off. They tell the story in the Barrio Isaia Medina Angarita of a shrewd Indian woman from the Andes, Josefina Hernandez, who can't sign her name but who has taken the measure of the politicians for what they are.

Before the last election in Venezuela, Josefina Hernandez demanded help from the government in continuing some of the barrio improvements that she and her followers had been making for themselves. The politicians promised to do it after the election.

"No," she said, "you do it before."

The politicians got the message: they built her a macadamized road where only a muddy gully existed in the rainy season, and they finished a school by working around the clock through the two weeks before election day. They also threw in a swimming pool, the only one in the Venezuela barrios.

And then the politicians who had done this lost the election. The new government has let the swimming pool grow a nasty surface cover of green slime, but the road and the school have survived the change in administration. Presumably, when the next election looms, the swimming pool will get renewed attention.

Accion, of course, is not in politics, but it has taught people an attitude. They want results.

As the years rolled by, Joe Blatchford, along with Terry Holcombe, Accion's new leader in the New York City international headquarters, and Miss Bamberger, the local lieutenant in Caracas, became convinced that the barrios — and the convulsions of Rio in Brazil — could use a more sophisticated type of community building guidance. The accent has shifted to technical training in a variety of directions.

In Rio de Janeiro, IBM has started an executive management training course, open to youthful aspirants who have learned the virtues of self-help from Accion.

Accion, as a private peace corps, now feels it needs an older type of volunteer from North America, one that has already achieved technical proficiency in a chosen profession. Curiously, the public Peace Corps, long a plaything of young idealists who didn't have much beyond enthusiasm to contribute, has reached the same decision. It did this before President Richard Nixon drafted Joe Blatchford from his private Accion en Venezuela to head the government Peace Corps. From now on Joe, in effect, will be competing as a public servant with his old private organization to see who can do the best job.

LETTERS TO THE PRESS

I have great faith in the new kraft mill. I truly believe its so-called nauseating odors will not take place.

It has been said that tourists will no longer want to come to Upper Michigan. People will want to move out. Shops will close their doors and move to another town, free from polluted air.

I know this won't happen because I believe the new odor free kraft mill will work.

Tourists will be coming in by the truck loads and our community will grow.

I think it's great that we have people in our community who are concerned about the things around them. I know that I and my fellow neighbors were concerned a year ago about clean air. We had a small mill that was emitting nauseating odors. It got to be pretty bad. A person could no longer hang out wash, nor leave windows open. I remember there was a certain part of the road that a white cloud of dirt hung over. It was not only harmful to the human body, but dangerous to the driver. The problem no longer exists.

I hope in the near future that the people of Escanaba will come forth and be concerned with other topics besides air. Topics like the young people of the community, more and better jobs, continuous construction of apartments for our senior citizens, enforcement of our laws and more and better improvements of our city government.

I want to close by saying that before approaching a problem, stop and take a long look around you. Look and be concerned. Listen to be concerned.

You have done nothing wrong, so relax. If there was an error, it was not yours.

Dear Ann Landers: My boyfriend is leaving for the service in a few weeks. He gave me his high school ring and told me we should consider ourselves engaged. I asked what that meant and he said, "It means you will wait for me and not go with anyone else when I am gone."

My parents are very much against the whole thing. They say I should not be tied down — that I am too young to make a decision as big as this. I am 17, Ann, and very mature for my age.

When I told my boyfriend what my parents said, he got mad and yelled, "The least they can do for a guy going to Vietnam is to keep his morale up by letting him know he has something to come home for."

Now it's gotten to be a real hassle between my parents and my boyfriend. I don't know what to do. Please guide me. Kenton, Ohio

Dear Ken: Your folks have given you good advice. I hope you take it. If it's the real thing, it will survive the separation. A girl who tries to hang onto a boy by appealing to her sense of patriotism exhibits a tremendous lack of confidence. Moreover he is not being fair to her.

Confidential to To Be Or Not To Be — That Is The Question: Take the advice of Justice Louis D. Brandeis, one of the greatest jurists of all time. He said, "The best way to deal with the irresistible is to resist it."

When romantic glances turn to warm embraces is it love or chemistry? Send for the book "Love Or Sex And How To Tell The Difference," by Ann Landers. Enclose a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and 35 cents in coin with your request.

Fat Ruled Penalty If Seeking Job Success

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:
Fat is a penalty if you are seeking business success. Although one out of every three executives is classed as overweight, only one out of every 10 in the top financial brackets is as much as 10 pounds above normal weight.

New Airports Needed
Airlines as well as automobiles are now having trouble finding free wheeling space. It is estimated that in the next five years alone some 700 new airports will be needed in the United States and most major airports already in existence should double their capacity to handle traffic safely.

The more prosperous the nation becomes, the more it forks out for the losers in life's chase of the almighty dollar. A study by Tax Foundation, Inc., revealed that in 1968 federal, state and local governments spent nearly $18 billion on welfare programs for the needy, almost 2 1/2 times the amount spent in 1960.

Quotable notables: "If we do not permit the earth to produce beauty and joy, it will in the end not produce food either." — Joseph Wood Krutch.

Alcohol Kill Killer
The cup that kills: Each year some 200,000 Americans are hospitalized for treatment of delirium tremens resulting from excessive drinking; of the six persons who die each hour in traffic accidents, three of the deaths are attributed to misuse of alcohol.

Are you one of those timid souls who habitually turn the other cheek when you are offended? Well, that might give you the rheumatiz. Dr. Harold Geist, a Berkeley, Calif., psychologist, says attacks of arthritis appear to be triggered by the inability of people with "weak egos" to express their anger openly.

Best Time To Rehearse
Tip to students: If you wish to memorize something, the best way is to rehearse the material just before going to bed and immediately after arising in the morning — thus giving both your conscious and subconscious minds opportunity to fix it in your memory.

Here's another reason for considering going on a low-fat diet: Dr. Samuel Rosen, New York ear specialist, says studies show that the hearing of patients on low-cholesterol diets tends to improve, regardless of their age, and becomes less sharp again if they go off the diet.

Quick facts: The sting of Polynesia's poisonous stonefish can kill a person within two hours. There's enough salt in Utah's Great Salt Lake—5.7 billion tons — to satisfy America's needs for two centuries.

Milliken Reverses Program Strategy

LANSING (AP)—In an effort to pass his educational reform package, Gov. William Milliken has completely reversed his earlier strategy in unveiling legislative programs.

Milliken suffered stinging rebukes from legislators soon after taking office when he surprised lawmakers by proposing that the voter-approved $100-million recreation bond issue be divided on a 30-30-40 basis instead of the proposed 70-30 formula.

Lawmakers Complain
Legislators complained that the first inkling they had of the proposed split was when they picked up their daily newspapers and read the governor's proposal.

In an effort to halt any criticism of his educational legislative package that will be publicly revealed Wednesday, the governor has conducted briefings for members of the Legislature. "In this case, legislators are getting it first and they're running to the press," commented one executive office staffer.

Besides conducting background sessions for Republican party members, Milliken met for a considerable length of time with House Speaker William Ryan, D-Detroit.

Briefing Conducted
The Governor's staff conducted a lengthy briefing for Senate Minority Leader Sander Levin, D-Berkeley.

David Dykhouse, Milliken's legal advisor, has been spending nearly all his time recently briefing legislators on the reform package.

In addition, Milliken was due to spend today and tomorrow further explaining the package to House and Senate Republicans. On Wednesday, before going on television, Milliken has invited any other interested legislators for a background.

Leaders Not Contacted
In addition to heading off criticism that the governor failed to consult legislative leaders, Milliken hopes to gain a time advantage by evading his program to lawmakers prior to submitting legislation.

"The Governor hopes they'll go right to work" on the package after convening Oct. 6, said one executive office source.

The reason for including Democrats in his backgrounders, sources said, was because the Governor feels there is "no greater challenge to the state than educational reform."

"It's a collective struggle — not a partisan one," the source added.

Milliken reportedly has established a good working relationship in the background sessions with Ryan.

As for other legislators, a source added, "he is encouraged by the reaction so far."

Standard Oil introduces AMOTONE...it works like a mechanic in our gasoline.

Face it.

Not every new gasoline improvement is met with universal enthusiasm.

AMOTONE is one of them. It's a new ingredient that works like a mechanic in our gasoline. It reduces rough idling, stalling and gasoline waste caused by carburetor deposits.

So naturally, mechanics are going to think we're trying to do them out of a job. We're not.

Yet, we know how busy good mechanics are. And how hard they are to find. We also know that automobile engines are getting more and more exacting. With dual carbs, higher compression ratios, and pollution control devices.

And the truth is, more and more drivers are simply ignoring the fact that their cars are idling rough and running out of tune.

So here we are with our brand new gasoline.

It does a lot of those little things you used to bother a mechanic with.

It's not going to solve all the engine problems, but it helps.

The one you like best just got better.

Kappa Gamma Society Hears Dr. O. McShine

Delta Chapter of the Delta Kappa Gamma Society met at Northern Michigan University Center at Marquette on Sept. 27, with Ina Green of Gladstone conducting the meeting which was preceded by a coffee hour and individual committee meetings.

Guest speaker for the day was Dr. Orville McShine, associate professor in the Foreign Language Department of Northern Michigan University.

Dr. McShine is a citizen of Trinidad and is well acquainted with the Caribbean area. He pursued his education in England, France and the United States. His Masters degree was obtained from the University of London and his Doctorate from the University of Paris.

While in France, Dr. McShine was honored by the government of France with the award, "Knight of Academic Palms". In addition to Dr. McShine's broad educational background he has traveled extensively in Europe, North and South America and just recently returned from Brazil.

In keeping with the Delta Kappa Gamma's study on values, Dr. McShine spoke on the "Evaluation of Values — Human Values in a Changing World." The general characteristics of values were stated by Dr. McShine. Values arise from need and expediency and suggest choice. As conditions change different values become supreme and conflict tests the strength of values.

The advantages and weaknesses of the value systems developed under Confucianism, Buddhism, Stoicism and Judaism were described.

In conclusion Dr. McShine stated the world needs a value concept based on respect, respect and respect for others. This value can be applied to all human activity.

Local teachers attending the meeting were Anona Anderson, Florence Bessonon, Eva Flomstrom, Mary Girard, Ruth Hebbard, Ina Green, Marie Jacobson, Rose Myllyla, Marian Oliver and Frances Weigand.

Bethany Baptist Church, St. Paul, Minn., was the setting for the evening wedding on Aug. 8 when Beverly Swenson and Richard Schultz of St. Paul were united in marriage.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Birger Swenson and the late Rev. Swenson, former residents of Escanaba. Mr. Schultz is the son of Mrs. Albert Schultz of Decatur, Ill. and the late Rev. Schultz.

Candlelighters at the wedding were Stan Schultz and Derald Schultz, nephews of the bridegroom. Following an organ prelude, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Port sang "The King of Love My Shepherd Is," by Shelley.

Orchid Formals

As the organ procession, "Trumpet Voluntary in D Major," by Purcell was played, the bride's attendants, all attired in sleeveless pale orchid formals with matching trains and white lace inserts at the bodice, took their places. Each wore long white gloves and carried a single, long-stemmed white rose.

As the trumpeteer, William Leafblad of Ashland, Wis., joined in the processional music, the bride entered, escorted by her brother, William Swenson of Washington, D.C.

Organza Lace

Her floor length gown of organza over taffeta, trimmed with Venetian lace, flowed into a long self-train from the shoulders. Her headpiece formed of matching lace held a full, chapel-length veil. Two white orchids centered her bouquet of white roses and Stephanotis.

The bridegroom's attendants were Duane Gibson of Chicago, best man, Robert Schultz of Belleville, Ill., Ronald Nelson and Ronald Harris, both of the Twin Cities. Ushers were Robert Kobelush of St. Paul and 11:55 p.m. on Sept. 28. Mrs. Paul Goodman of San Jose, Phalen was Peggy McClintchy.

Concert Season Has Successful Opening

An estimated 700 membership holders braved the elements Saturday night for the first attraction of the 1969-70 Community Concert season. I consider this quite good considering the fact of a local high school football game and rehearsals in the final week for

Players de Noc's production of "Mame."

This concert was an interesting one. In advance of it, I wondered how an audience of such diverse interests and ages would receive a modern, sophisticated swing trio. It presented possibilities of neither pleasing the classicists or the "now" generation.

Warm Reception

But art is art, and the audience took the Neil Wolfe trio to its musical hearts, and gave them a warm reception indeed. The trio was made up of Neil Wolfe, piano, Lewis Berryman, bass and Howard Kaddison, percussion.

Drawing largely on show tunes, the trio presented a highly inventive and intriguing program, featuring, of course, Mr. Wolfe. He announced the program as he went along, establishing a rapport with his audience with both conversation and the keyboard.

Trills, Turns

As the program notes stated, he used a contrapuntal style often, and little pieces of Bach Partitas and Couperin's trills and turns would leap out of the Perome Kern of Rogers and Hammerstein as it sparkled from the keyboard.

Not Loud

His was a witty musical style, and as someone said later, proved also that percussion and bass do not have to be played loudly to make an entertaining point. As a matter of fact, the artistic disciplines of the bassist and percussionist as well as Mr. Wolfe are why this trio is so highly regarded by musicians as well as audiences.

Dick Shory and his Pope Orchestra will be the next Community Concert attraction. Oct. 12, Sunday at 8:15 p.m.

Kappa Gamma Society Hears Dr. O. McShine

Delta Chapter of the Delta Kappa Gamma Society met at Northern Michigan University Center at Marquette on Sept. 27, with Ina Green of Gladstone conducting the meeting which was preceded by a coffee hour and individual committee meetings.

Guest speaker for the day was Dr. Orville McShine, associate professor in the Foreign Language Department of Northern Michigan University.

Dr. McShine is a citizen of Trinidad and is well acquainted with the Caribbean area. He pursued his education in England, France and the United States. His Masters degree was obtained from the University of London and his Doctorate from the University of Paris.

While in France, Dr. McShine was honored by the government of France with the award, "Knight of Academic Palms". In addition to Dr. McShine's broad educational background he has traveled extensively in Europe, North and South America and just recently returned from Brazil.

In keeping with the Delta Kappa Gamma's study on values, Dr. McShine spoke on the "Evaluation of Values — Human Values in a Changing World." The general characteristics of values were stated by Dr. McShine. Values arise from need and expediency and suggest choice. As conditions change different values become supreme and conflict tests the strength of values.

The advantages and weaknesses of the value systems developed under Confucianism, Buddhism, Stoicism and Judaism were described.

In conclusion Dr. McShine stated the world needs a value concept based on respect—self-respect and respect for others. This value can be applied to all human activity.

Local teachers attending the meeting were Anona Anderson, Florence Bessonon, Eva Flemstrom, Mary Girard, Ruth Hebard, Ina Green, Marie Jacobson, Rose Myllyla, Marian Oliver and Frances Weigand.

Orchid Formals

As the organ procession, "Trumpet Voluntary in D Major," by Purcell was played, the bride's attendants, all attired in sleeveless pale orchid formals with matching trains and white lace inserts at the bodice, took their places. Each wore long white gloves and carried a single, long-stemmed white rose.

As the trumpeteer, William Leafblad of Ashland, Wis., joined in the processional music, the bride entered, escorted by her brother, William Swenson of Washington, D.C.

Organza, Lace

Her floor length gown of organza over taffeta, trimmed with Venetian lace, flowed into a long self-train from the shoulders. Her headpiece formed of matching lace held a full, chapel-length veil. Two white orchids centered her bouquet of white roses and stephanotis.

Concert Season Has Successful Opening

An estimated 700 membership holders braved the elements Saturday night for the first attraction of the 1969-70 Community Concert season. I considered this quite good considering the fact of a local high school football game and rehearsals in the final week for Players de Noc's production of "Mame."

This concert was an interesting one. In advance of it, I wondered how an audience of such diverse interests and ages would receive a modern, sophisticated swing trio. It presented possibilities of neither pleasing the classicists of the "now" generation.

Warm Reception

But art is art, and the audience took the Neil Wolfe trio to its musical hearts, and gave them a warm reception indeed. The trio was made up of Neil Wolfe, piano, Lewis Berryman, bass and Howard Kaddison, percussion.

Drawing largely on show tunes, the trio presented a highly inventive and intriguing program, featuring, of course, Mr. Wolfe. He announced the program as he went along, establishing a rapport with his audience with both conversation and the keyboard.

Trills, Turns

As the program notes stated, he used a contrapuntal style often, and little pieces of Bach Partitas and Couperin's trills and turns would leap out of the Perome Kern of Rogers and Hammerstein as it sparkled from the keyboard.

Not Loud

His was a witty musical style, and as someone said later, proved also that percussion and bass do not have to be played loudly to make an entertaining point. As a matter of fact, the artistic disciplines of the bassist and percussionist as well as Mr. Wolfe are why this trio is so highly regarded by musicians as well as audiences.

Dick Shory and his Pops Orchestra will be the next Community Concert attraction. Oct. 12, Sunday at 8:15 p.m.

Lake Sailors Well-Fed Firm's Article Says

Marcus Bosanic of Manistique is the subject of a feature story in the current issue of Inland News, a publication for employees of the Inland Steel Company.

Bosanic, a steward with the Inland fleet of ore boats for 14 years, is currently chef aboard the Clarence B. Randall. During the off-season months he lives at Indian Lake.

"I order provisions and supervise preparations of meals for the 34 men aboard the Clarence B. Randall," says Mark, who has served as steward aboard all but one vessel of the Inland Fleet.

He is backed up by a second cook, a messman (who serves the meals), a dishwasher and a nightman, who runs the galley during off-shore hours.

Mark joined the fleet in 1948 as a deckhand, the article continues. He had learned to cook while a young man in the Civilian Conservation Corps, so after a season he was made a second cook. Then, a few seasons later, he was made steward.

When he describes the amount of provisions necessary to keep the sailors of the inland seas well-fed, one begins to realize the enormity of his job.

"For a five-day trip up the lakes and back, it takes 120 quarts of milk and 30 dozen eggs," he reports. "It takes $45 worth of steak for a meal, and during a season, the crew will drink up a ton of coffee."

If he is serving "something simple" like hamburgers, it takes 16 pounds of meat and 72 buns. Hamburgers are popular with the crew, and in case you wonder why that should be, with all the other good things available, consider this: Mark grinds his own hamburger — from sirloin. He said the most popular breakfast items are potato pancakes, home-made donuts, bacon and sausage, to name a few.

Lunches may see the men trying into baked trout, pizza, lasagna or pasties, a dish popularized on Michigan's Upper Peninsula by Cornish miners. It is a filling of potatoes and meat wrapped in a light crust.

"Beef Stroganoff is also a big item with the men," says Mark. One recent typical menu included roast duck, stuffed peppers, dressing, potatoes and gravy, beets and tossed green salad. For the truly hearty, dessert could include coconut cream pie, cheese pie or, if your appetite is lagging, banana bread.

Eight kinds of cold meat and five kinds of cheese are kept in his refrigerators for the voracious crewmen, Mark said, besides fruit and pasties always being available.

"You'd be surprised how many men go on diets after they've been aboard a few weeks," says Mark, who considers it part of his duty to help the dieting overcome this cornucopia of temptations.

Attending to the quality of food aboard vessels of the Inland Fleet is the off-repeated tale of now-retired chairman Joseph Block who, when asked to name the two best restaurants at which he had eaten, listed a world-famous establishment in Paris and an inland ore boat.

Airplane Flips In Indian Lake

While taxiing for a take-off, a single engine pontoon airplane flipped into the choppy waters of Indian Lake Saturday at 9:15 a.m.

The pilot of the two-passenger plane, Joseph Chartier, 49, 125 S. Second St., told state police one pontoon dipped, causing a wing to dip and the plane flipped. Chartier and a passenger, his 13-year old nephew William Chartier, 118 S. First St., were brought ashore by a boat after crawling on a wing. The accident happened about 75 yards offshore from the Arrowhead Inn in about five feet of water.

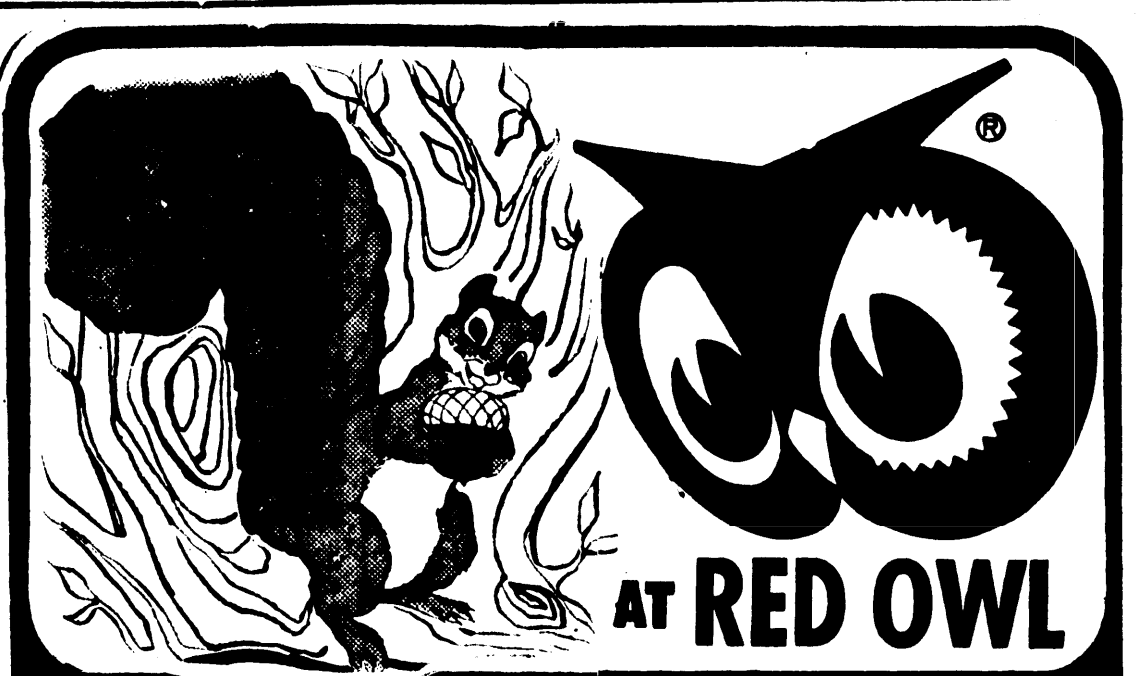

The airplane was righted and towed ashore Saturday noon. Cletus Chartier of Delta County, a brother of Joseph, is the owner of the plane. The airplane sustained damage only to one wing.

State police said any further investigation into the mishap would come under the jurisdiction of the Federal Aviation Agency.

Two men were arrested by State Police Friday for driving with revoked licenses and jailed pending a bond hearing in District Court. Cited were Leonard Walters, 19, 138 N. Airplane Flips

In Indian Lake

While taxiing for a take-off, a single engine pontoon airplane flipped into the choppy waters of Indian Lake Saturday at 9:15 a.m.

The pilot of the two-passenger plane, Joseph Chartier, 49, 125 S. Second St., told state police one pontoon dipped, causing a wing to dip and the plane flipped. Chartier and a passenger, his 13-year old nephew William Chartier, 118 S. First St., were brought ashore by a boat after crawling on a wing. The accident happened about 75 yards offshore from the Arrowhead Inn in about five feet of water.

The airplane was righted and towed ashore Saturday noon. Cletus Chartier of Delta County, a brother of Joseph, is the owner of the plane. The airplane sustained damage only to one wing.

State police said any further investigation into the mishap would come under the jurisdiction of the Federal Aviation Agency.

Shortage Of Doctors Seen In Ten Years

DETROIT (AP) — A spokesman for the medical profession says the demand for health care threatens to overwhelm the supply of available doctors in the next 10 years.

Dr. Ernest Howard, executive vice president of the American Medical Association (AMA), said the most acute concerns facing physicians are the emerging problems of quantity versus quality and supply versus demand.

Howard made his remarks in a speech Sunday to the annual meeting of the Michigan State Medical Society's policy-making body, the House of Delegates.

There is an almost insatiable demand for medical care in the United States, he said.

Reasons for the mounting demand, he said, included: —Better appreciation of the product. It is valued because it postpones death and can make life worth living.

—People are more sophisticated, more knowledgeable about medical care. They read and hear about it regularly.

—Rapid growth of the concept that health care is a human right.

—Medicare has blanketed 20 million people, and there is a marked increase in demand for medical care from the over-65 age group.

'Sold' Child, 3, Back With Mom

NEW YORK (AP) — A 3-year-old girl allegedly kidnapped here Thursday and "sold" to a South Carolina woman was carried sleeping from a plane at Kennedy Airport this morning and awakened by her mother's kisses.

"That's mama! That's mama!" little Tondalayo Jones cried as Mrs. Helena Jones took her from the arms of an FBI agent and hugged her.

The FBI said the girl apparently was unharmed, but her golden hair had been dyed black by her abductors.

Two Harlem women—Constance Dezone, 39, and Pauline Coleman, 57—were held for arraignment today on charges of violating the federal kidnap statute. Conviction could bring a maximum penalty of life imprisonment.

The FBI said both women knew the child's mother.

New York City police said they had received a tip that Tondalayo was taken to Charleston, where FBI agents found her Sunday at the home of William Jones, "a respected dentist," and his wife Irbly, "a minister." The Joneses are not related to the child, police said.

Agents said Tondalayo had been "well cared for" at the couple's home.

Mrs. Irbly Jones paid $500 to the accused kidnapers in New York on Thursday "after seeing the child," the FBI said.

Police said Mrs. Dezone and Mrs. Coleman pointed Tondalayo out to the South Carolinian and said, "You can have her for $500."

"We can only assume at this time that she was lonely and just wanted a child of her own," the FBI said.

ALLENDALE (AP) — More than 2,700 students have registered for classes at Grand Valley State College this fall. The enrollment is up nearly 500 from last fall.

30-YEAR ERROR — Kansas Gov. Robert Docking granted a full pardon to 70-year-old Frank Sawyer (above), who apparently served more than 30 years wrongfully for the robbery of a Fort Scott bank in 1932. He was serving a 20-100 year sentence. An affidavit from Alvin Karpis, one-time member of the notorious Ma Barker gang, led to an investigation. Karpis said he took part in the holdup but Sawyer didn't.

Terrorist Bomb Rips Home Of Montreal Mayor

MONTREAL (AP) — A terrorist bomb exploded at the home of Mayor Jean Drapeau today less than a week after 24-hour police surveillance there was discontinued.

Mrs. Drapeau and her 21-year-old son Michel, asleep upstairs in the two-story residence in the district of Rosemount, were not harmed.

The explosion, at 5:15 a.m., shattered the residence in the area known as Cite Jardin. The mayor told reporters it appeared the house would have to be demolished.

Placed at the rear of the residence in a stairwell, the bomb—with an equivalent power of 10 sticks of dynamite, police said—was heard five miles away in downtown Montreal.

Police surveillance at the Drapeau residence had begun during last summer's surge of terrorist bombings. Some blamed the bombings on labor disputes, some on separatists, those who demand independence for Quebec.

Mayor Drapeau was at his restaurant Le Vaisseau d'Or—the Golden Vessel—when the explosion occurred and he did not know about it until he reached home.

Miss Bernette Kahabka of Michigan State University, East Lansing, addressed the group on "Looking Your Best Self," with models from various extension clubs. Two students from the Escanaba Beauty Academy demonstrated setting the hair for two different styles and answered questions on the care of the hair. A demonstration and display of wigs, wiglets and falls was also presented to the group.

Miss Teronen had a display of articles which she brought from Finland this summer. The next meeting of the group will be held at the home of Mrs. Oscar Kell, Wednesday, Oct. 22. Assisting hostess will be Mrs. Ed Beauchamp. Lunch was served Wednesday night by Mrs. Srnka and Mrs. Gilbert Henderson.

Bullet Kills Girl

DETROIT (AP) — A pistol which witnesses said accidentally discharged during a neighborhood argument was blamed today for the death of Royce Ann Goodwin, 11. Police said the girl's father, Leroy, 43, was arguing with another man across from her home. The girl's brother-in-law attempted to intercede, and the gun discharged accidentally, witnesses told police. He was not held.

Rocking Chair Record Beaten; Fund Goal Off

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) —Two Michigan State University juniors set a new rocking chair record early today, but their goal wasn't yet in sight.

Phillip Grant of Eu Claire, Mich., and Harold Prentice of Flint, Mich., passed the 104-hour mark just after midnight and 40 other students whooped it up as their pair surpassed the old record set by Grant last spring.

But Grant and Prentice were unhappy, downright resentful, in fact.

Unlike goldfish swallowing and phone booth packing, their was a prank with a purpose. The aim was to raise $10,000 to fight muscular dystrophy, but only $1,400 has been collected or pledged since the marathon rocking chair session began last Thursday.

Grant blamed the poor results on the lack of support previously promised by fraternities and sororities at MSU.

"Of the 40 fraternities and 25 sororities, only my fraternity, Phi Mu Alpha, and one sorority have chipped in to meet the goal," Grant said.

Prentice and Grant, who were to be examined by a university doctor today, said they would continue to rock regardless of what the doctor advises if the other Greek letter units lend their fund-raising support.

"But if the help we were promised doesn't come through, we will probably have to quit," Grant said.

Crystal Falls Eyes Start Of New Hospital

CRYSTAL FALLS — City officials are considering the start of a hospital construction program prior to the sale of $400,000 in general obligation bonds needed to complete financing of the project.

About $250,000 in local funds is available for the project. A special agreement with a contracting firm may be completed for use of that money to start work on the new hospital.

Meanwhile, negotiations have begun with a firm of Lansing bonding consultants to promote sale of the $400,000 bond issue. No bids for the bonds were received at a special meeting of the city council.

Troopers Cite Cornell Man

A Cornell man has been released on $500 bond and will appear Wednesday in District Court to answer to charges after being arrested by State Police Sunday for driving under the influence of intoxicating liquors.

Francis Flemal, 30, Rte. 1, Cornell, was arrested at 12:55 a.m. Sunday by Troopers after they spotted him driving erratically on M-35 just south of Brampton.

U-M Student Strike Falter

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Some 200 pickets carrying signs calling for a student strike paraded outside campus buildings at the University of Michigan today, but a university spokesman said classes appeared to be operating on a near-normal basis.

The demonstrators called for a general faculty-student walk-out in support of demands for student control over a proposed campus bookstore.

President Robben W. Fleming said earlier, however, that there appeared to be no faculty support for the strike.

Chris Carey, of the university's news service, said an informal check of classrooms showed little sign of slackened attendance.

Fleming said that in the past 24 hours two new suggestions have been received for operation of the planned bookstore, one from a faculty senate advisory group on university affairs and the other from the Central Coordinating Committee, a student group.

"Although the regents have thoroughly explored the present proposals (for student control)," Fleming said, "I am sure they are not unalterably opposed to new plans."

Fleming said he was inviting faculty and student government representatives to meet with him to discuss the new alternatives. He added, however, that such discussions could not proceed "in a meaningful fashion" under pressure tactics.

Fleming also disclosed he was dropping the injunction which the university obtained in a civil action last week in an effort to clear a campus building seized by student demonstrators.

Criminal charges stemming from a police ouster of the demonstrators still stand.

Copper 'Strikes' Different Now In Keweenaw

HOUGHTON (AP) — Despite the current lack of red metal mining in Michigan's Copper Country, there still are large chunks of metal being found.

At the Quincy Smelting Works in Ripley, some 12,000 pounds are on hand, found by divers working off Eagle River and down into the waters of Lake Superior. The mass metal is combined with quartz and calcite and was removed from a ledge protruding out over the lake bottom.

Last week, Leonard Pirkola of Copper City discovered a 1,100-pound chunk of copper on a relative's farm near the hamlet. The mass, containing both silver and copper, was found about 12 inches underground and was removed with the aid of a bulldozer.

Migrant Grant

LANSING (AP) — A federal Office of Education grant totaling $1,785,173 has been awarded to a Michigan program of education for more than 12,000 children of migrant workers this fiscal year.

Counties included in the program are Wayne, Oakland and Monroe. The money will be used to improve the speaking, reading, writing and mathematical skills of the children of migrant workers this fiscal year.

PEMBINE, Wis. — The Power-Spelling Tigers spoiled the homecoming activities at Pembine High School Saturday when they scored a 37-12 victory over the Panthers in a Wolverine Conference contest.

Wildcats Nip Weber State

OGDEN, Utah — Northern Michigan University upset nationally ranked Weber State, 24-23, here Saturday night before a record crowd of 12,848 fans.

The Wildcats struck for two touchdowns in the first six minutes, then rallied from a 17-14 deficit in the second half to gain the victory.

A 14-yard pass from quarterback Rich McCarthy to half-back Lonnie Holton put NMU in front at the 10:20 mark of the first period and a minute and a half later, after Weber State fumbled the ensuing kickoff, McCarthy scored from the four-yard line to make it 14-0.

Weber State's Jaime Nunez booted a 47-yard field goal to put WSC on the scoreboard late in the quarter and Weber State then scored twice in the second period to take a 17-14 halftime lead.

Northern made it 17-all in the final minute of the third quarter on Gene Grady's 26-yard field goal.

The Wildcats regained the lead early in the final period on the wildest play of the game. McCarthy passed 18 yards to Guy Kangas on the two, but Kangas fumbled the ball and Holton, following the play, scooped up the ball and stepped into the end zone. Grady's PAT proved to be the winning point.

The loss was the first for Weber State, ranked fifth and sixth in two national wire service polls. Northern's record is now 2-1.

Steve Storey, Community School director, announces that Adult Enrichment classes, a part of the Community School program will begin tonight at the Escanaba Senior High.

'Sold' Child, 3, Back With Mom

NEW YORK (AP) — A 3-year-old girl allegedly kidnapped here Thursday and "sold" to a South Carolina woman was carried sleeping from a plane at Kennedy Airport this morning and awakened by her mother's kisses.

"That's mama! That's mama!" little Tondalayo Jones cried as Mrs. Helena Jones took her from the arms of an FBI agent and hugged her.

The FBI said the girl apparently was unharmed, but her golden hair had been dyed black by her abductors.

Two Harlem women—Constance Dezone, 39, and Pauline Coleman, 57—were held for arraignment today on charges of violating the federal kidnap statute. Conviction could bring a maximum penalty of life imprisonment.

The FBI said both women knew the child's mother.

New York City police said they had received a tip that Tondalayo was taken to Charleston, where FBI agents found her Sunday at the home of William Jones, "a respected dentist," and his wife Irbay, "a minister." The Joneses are not related to the child, police said.

Agents said Tondalayo had been "well cared for" at the couple's home.

Mrs. Irbay Jones paid $500 to the accused kidnappers in New York on Thursday "after seeing the child," the FBI said.

Police said Mrs. Dezone and Mrs. Coleman pointed Tondalayo out to the South Carolinian and said, "You can have her for $500."

"We can only assume at this time that she was lonely and just wanted a child of her own," the FBI said.

Terrorist Bomb Rips Home Of Montreal Mayor

MONTREAL (AP) — A terrorist bomb exploded at the home of Mayor Jean Drapeau today less than a week after 24-hour police surveillance there was discontinued.

Mrs. Drapeau and her 21-year-old son Michel, asleep upstairs in the two-story residence in the district of Rosemount, were not harmed.

The explosion, at 5:15 a.m., shattered the residence in the area known as Cite Jardin. The mayor told reporters it appeared the house would have to be demolished.

Placed at the rear of the residence in a stairwell, the bomb—with an equivalent power of 10 sticks of dynamite, police said—was heard five miles away in downtown Montreal.

Police surveillance at the Drapeau residence had begun during last summer's surge of terrorist bombings. Some blamed the bombings on labor disputes, some on separatists, those who demand independence for Quebec.

Mayor Drapeau was at his restaurant Le Vaisseau d'Or. The Golden Vessel—when the explosion occurred and he did not know about it until he reached home.

It was believed to be the 16th strike flown by Israeli pilots since the Sept. 9 Israeli amphibious raid along the western shore of the Gulf of Suez.

Israel claimed it hit the same general area in an air attack Sunday night, but Egypt said the attack was foiled by Arab anti-aircraft fire.

An Israeli spokesman in Tel Aviv said the planes struck targets along northern and southern sectors of the canal "in view of continued Egyptian aggression." He said all planes returned safely to base.

A Cairo spokesman said the Israeli air raid was "a futile attempt at retaliation" for an Egyptian commando attack in Sinai early Sunday.

Miss Tervonen had a display of articles which she brought from Finland this summer. The next meeting of the group will be held at the home of Mrs. Oscar Kell, Wednesday, Oct. 22. The girl's brother-in-law attempted to intervene, and the gun discharged accidentally, witnesses told police. He was not held.

Rocking Chair Record Beaten; Fund Goal Off

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Two Michigan State University juniors set a new rocking chair record today, but their goal wasn't yet in sight.

Phillip Grant of Eu Claire, Mich., and Harold Prentice of Flint, Mich., passed the 104-hour mark just after midnight and 40 other students whooped it up as their pair surpassed the old record set by Grant last spring.

But Grant and Prentice were unhappy, downright resentful, in fact.

Unlike goldfish swallowing and phone booth packing, their's was a prank with a purpose. The aim was to raise $10,000 to fight muscular dystrophy, but only $1,400 has been collected or pledged since the marathon rocking chair session began last Thursday.

Grant blamed the poor results on the lack of support previously promised by fraternities and sororities at MSU.

"Of the 40 fraternities and 25 sororities, only my fraternity, Phi Kappa Sigma, Hal's fraternity, Phi Mu Alpha, and one sorority have chipped in to meet the goal," Grant said.

Prentice and Grant, who were to be examined by a university doctor today, said they would continue to rock regardless of what the doctor advises if the other Greek letter units lend their fund-raising support.

"But if the help we were promised doesn't come through, we will probably have to quit," Grant said.

U-M Student Strike Falters

ANN ARBOR (AP) — Some 200 pickets carrying signs calling for a student strike paraded outside campus buildings at the University of Michigan today, but a university spokesman said classes appeared to be operating on a near-normal basis.

The demonstrators called for a general faculty-student walk-out in support of demands for student control over a proposed campus bookstore.

President Robben W. Fleming said earlier, however, that there appeared to be no faculty support for the strike.

Chris Carey, of the university's news service, said an informal check of classrooms showed little sign of slackened attendance.

Fleming said that in the past 24 hours two new suggestions have been received for operation of the planned bookstore, one from a faculty senate advisory group on university affairs and the other from the Central Coordinating Committee, a student group.

"Although the regents have thoroughly explored the present proposals (for student control)," Fleming said, "I am sure they are not unalterably opposed to new plans."

Fleming said he was inviting faculty and student government representatives to meet with him to discuss the new alternatives. He added, however, that such discussions could not proceed "in a meaningful fashion" under pressure tactics.

Fleming also disclosed he was dropping the injunction which the university obtained in a civil action last week in an effort to clear a campus building seized by student demonstrators.

Criminal charges stemming from a police ouster of the demonstrators still stand.

Copper 'Strikes' Different Now In Keweenaw

HOUGHTON (AP) — Despite the current lack of red metal mining in Michigan's Copper Country, there still are large chunks of metal being found.

At the Quincy Smelting Works in Ripley, some 12,000 pounds are on hand, found by divers working off Eagle River and down into the waters of Lake Superior. The mass metal is combined with quartz and calcite and was removed from a ledge protruding out over the lake bottom.

Last week, Leonard Pirkola of Copper City discovered a 1,100-pound chunk of copper on a relative's farm near the hamlet. The mass, containing both siliceous and copper, was found about 12 inches underground and was removed with the aid of a bulldozer.

The money will be used to improve the speaking, reading, writing and mathematical skills of the children of migrant workers this fiscal year.

Defense Sparks Lions To Victory In Home Opener

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Lions were far from awesome in their home opener—but they were hungry.

Detroit managed only 241 yards total offense, but with the help of an inspired defense the Lions blanked the New York Giants 24-0 in their National Football League game Sunday. It was Detroit's third shutout in its last five opening games at home.

"We weren't too awesome," said Coach Joe Schmidt. "We're a sound football team. We don't have a three-ring circus with the way we run our plays. We just don't teach that kind of game."

"But today everything went right for a change and we won," he added. "These kids can win. They're a hungry ball club."

Last week the Lions lost to Pittsburgh 16-13 and Schmidt blamed the defeat on "tightness." Halfback Nick Eddy agreed.

"Up Tight" "Last week we were a little up tight," said Eddy, who made a spectacular grab of a 14-yard touchdown pass from Bill Munson in the third quarter. "Everyone was upset about that game."

We didn't play like we could last week. I don't think we played that well today either, but we won."

"The Lions played an inspired game," said New York quarterback Fran Tarkenton, referring primarily to the defense which limited him to just five completions in 16 pass attempts for 78 yards. The scrambling signal caller picked up 15 yards on three carries.

"They're a blitzing team and always have been," he said of the linebackers who continually joined the Lions front four in a pass rush. "They can get up for any game."

Evening Records The game squared both teams' records at 1-1. New York won its opener 24-23 against Minnesota.

"Defensively we played a great game," Schmidt said. "Offensively we did real well on blocking and an exceptionally well on pass protection."

Detroit quarterback Bill Munson, much criticized after last week's game, completed 10 of 22 passes for 124 yards and one touchdown.

"He did a much better job than last week, and he'll come on and have a heck of a year," Schmidt said.

Lem Barney, former NFL offensive rookie of the year, returned a punt back 74 yards for a fourth quarter touchdown to give the Lions their final but most electrifying score.

Eddy Scores However, it was Eddy's touchdown catch that seemed to break New York's back. The score climaxed a 72-yard drive that took just six plays, with the big gain being a 47-yard pass from Munson to tight end Charlie Sanders that put the ball on the Giants 15.

The first quarter was a scoreless stalemate, with both offenses failing to sustain a drive. In the second quarter on fourth down and inches to go at midfield, the Giants gambled and tried for the first down. But Ernie Koy was stopped by the middle of the Detroit line for no gain.

The Lions took over and covered 50 yards in seven plays with Mel Farr skirting his left end for a two-yard TD. The drive was aided by a 15-yard face mask pulling penalty against the Giants after a nine-yard pass from Munson to Sanders.

New York's only scoring threats came in the second quarter but Pete Gogolak missed on 33 and 31-yard field goal attempts.

"If we would have gotten those two field goals we would have been 7-6 at the half and that would have put more pressure on them," said Giants coach Alex Webster.

After Eddy's score, New York had the ball for only four plays before Tarkenton fumbled at his own 43 and Alex Karras recovered for the Lions. Detroit then moved the ball to the Giants 39 and Errol Mann booted a field goal.

Adderly's Interception Saves Day For Packers

MILWAUKEE — Herb Adderly, the cagey veteran of the Green Bay Packers, made one of the biggest interceptions of a long career at County Stadium Sunday, and saved a 14-7 victory over the San Francisco 49ers in a national football league game.

With 13 seconds left in the game, and the 49ers with first down on the Packers seven — John Brodie's fourth down pass to Bob Windsor had carried 23 yards to that point — Brodie rolled to his right, faked a pass twice, and then threw toward the middle.

Windsor was in the end zone there, near the goal post, but the pass never got there. Adderly caught it on the goal, ran it out to the 11, and clutched it desperately as he fell, with the ball — and victory — in his grasp.

Open Scoring Dave Hampton got the Packers started with an 87 yard dash with the second half kick-off, the first points in what had been a dreary exchange of punts.

Then, after Brodie's pass to Clifton McNeil had produced an 80-yard touchdown pass, and a tie, on the very next scrimmage play, the Packers won the game with a 53 yard march, the only drive of the day which was worthy of the name.

Bart Starr capped it, as he has so many before, with a two yard scoring pass to Jim Grabowski and that, despite almost a whole quarter of furious combat, and Brodie's stirring challenge, was that.

The first half ended in a scoreless tie, but the score was misleading. There wasn't quite that much offense.

No Threats In 30 minutes of trying, the Packers got within field goal range once, on their first possession of the football. Mike Mercer ended that drive on a sour note, but he had an excuse — the turf in that area in the field, after only nine minutes of use, looked like a sea of ground beef.

But the 49ers re-established it almost as quickly. After Fran Winkler's kick-off had carried into the end zone, Brodie got the ball at his 20. On first down, he threw a deep crossing pattern to Clifton McNeil, who caught the ball, shed a tackle by Herb Adderly at the 35 and ran unimpeded in for a touchdown. Davis' kick tied the score, and the teams spent the rest of the period in fruitless, if a bit more stimulating, standoff.

But as the period ended, the Packers embarked on what turned into the first meaningful drive of the game.

Take Lead Davis started it, when he fumbled a snap from center and decided to run instead of punt. Dave Robinson flagged him down at the 47, and Green Bay took over there.

In 11 plays, Green Bay had a 14-7 lead. An 11 yard pass to the rookie wide receiver, John Spill — who started, with Boyd Dowler at tight end in deference to Marv Fleming's injured shoulder — started the surge, and an artistic pass finished it.

passed 15 yards to Garry Collins for a touchdown with 1:19 left. The Redskins had come from a 20-10 deficit to a 23-20 lead by marching 70 yards for one touchdown and getting another on Sonny Jurgensen's 13-yard pass to Bob Long.

Rookie Calvin Hill bulled his way to touchdown runs of 23 and eight yards, and Craig Morton threw a 49-yard scoring strike to Les Shy to get Dallas past stubborn New Orleans, which saw its chance of an upset foiled when Bill Kilmer's pass, was intercepted near the Dallas goal line with 38 seconds remaining.

Willis Crenshaw barged over for a touchdown from the two-yard line late in the final quarter to bring St. Louis its comeback triumph over Chicago. The Bears had taken a 17-13 lead in the third period on Jack Cannannon's 15-yard touchdown pass and Mac Perceval's 21-yard field goal then missed a chance to tie when Perceval failed on a field goal attempt on the final play of the game.

Norm Sneed threw five touchdown passes, four to flanker Ren Hawkins, as Philadelphia rallied from a 13-0 deficit to whip Pittsburgh. Down 31-13 Pittsburgh rallied to within 31-27, but the Eagles then clinched it on Sam Baker's 41-yard field goal and Sneed's 54-yard scoring pass to Harold Jackson.

San Francisco's threats were more numerous, but no more profitable. Tommy Davis, trying to kick out of the same mooncape as had Mercer, missed on a 33 yard field goal attempt, and then on a 46 yard attempt, and finally, with two seconds left in the half, on a 42 yard attempt.

The frustrations of both clubs were ended — or at least interrupted — with stunning suddenness as the second half began.

It was the Packers' turn to receive, and Tommy Davis' first kick-off skittered out of bounds, requiring a re-kick from the San Francisco 35.

This time Davis kept the kick inbounds, but he may have regretted its accuracy. Dave Hampton took the ball in stride at the 45, where the wedge had formed, disappeared for a moment in the melee, and then spun to his left and was clear.

He didn't stop running until he was in the end zone, although he flung the ball to the ground in triumph slightly before he got that far. Mike Mercer's kick broke the tie at last, 7-0.

Strike Back But the 49ers re-established it almost as quickly. After Fran Winkler's kick-off had carried into the end zone, Brodie got the ball at his 20. On first down, he threw a deep crossing pattern to Clifton McNeil, who caught the ball, shed a tackle by Herb Adderly at the 35 and ran unimpeded in for a touchdown. Davis' kick tied the score, and the teams spent the rest of the period in fruitless, if a bit more stimulating, standoff.

But as the period ended, the Packers embarked on what turned into the first meaningful drive of the game.

Take Lead Davis started it, when he fumbled a snap from center and decided to run instead of punt. Dave Robinson flagged him down at the 47, and Green Bay took over there.

In 11 plays, Green Bay had a 14-7 lead. An 11 yard pass to the rookie wide receiver, John Spill — who started, with Boyd Dowler at tight end in deference to Marv Fleming's injured shoulder — started the surge, and an artistic pass finished it.

passed 15 yards to Garry Collins for a touchdown with 1:19 left. The Redskins had come from a 20-10 deficit to a 23-20 lead by marching 70 yards for one touchdown and getting another on Sonny Jurgensen's 13-yard pass to Bob Long.

Rookie Calvin Hill bulled his way to touchdown runs of 23 and eight yards, and Craig Morton threw a 49-yard scoring strike to Les Shy to get Dallas past stubborn New Orleans, which saw its chance of an upset foiled when Bill Kilmer's pass, was intercepted near the Dallas goal line with 38 seconds remaining.

Willis Crenshaw barged over for a touchdown from the two-yard line late in the final quarter to bring St. Louis its comeback triumph over Chicago. The Bears had taken a 17-13 lead in the third period on Jack Cannannon's 15-yard touchdown pass and Mac Perceval's 21-yard field goal then missed a chance to tie when Perceval failed on a field goal attempt on the final play of the game.

Norm Sneed threw five touchdown passes, four to flanker Ren Hawkins, as Philadelphia rallied from a 13-0 deficit to whip Pittsburgh. Down 31-13 Pittsburgh rallied to within 31-27, but the Eagles then clinched it on Sam Baker's 41-yard field goal and Sneed's 54-yard scoring pass to Harold Jackson.

San Francisco's threats were more numerous, but no more profitable. Tommy Davis, trying to kick out of the same mooncape as had Mercer, missed on a 33 yard field goal attempt, and then on a 46 yard attempt, and finally, with two seconds left in the half, on a 42 yard attempt.

Crusaders Upended By Flivver Eleven

By MIKE UTT

Kingsford may not have the best football team in the Upper Peninsula, but you may have a hard time convincing either of the Escanaba schools of that fact after the Flivvers scored a 13-12 victory over the Holy Name Crusaders Saturday night in a Great Northern Conference played on the Holy Name Athletic Field.

The week before, the Flivvers put an end to the Escanaba Eskimos' 23-game unbeaten string with an 18-0 victory at Kingsford.

The Flivvers took advantage of a powerful running attack to score a pair of touchdowns and an extra point in the third quarter and take a 13-6 lead. Kingsford piled up 228 yards on the ground in the game and added 45 more through the air. Halfback Steve Kotlar did most of the damage with 104 yards in nine carries, including a 68-yard scamper for Kingsford's second touchdown.

Threatens Early Kingsford threatened early in the game, taking the ball on the opening kickoff and going all the way down to the Holy Name two-yard line before the Crusaders' Bill Beauvais fell on a fumble to put an end to the drive.

That was the only real scoring threat in the first period and the quarter ended with the two teams deadlocked in a 0-0 tie.

Late in the second quarter, Kingsford started another drive from their own 31-yard line and moved down to the Holy Name 34 before Kim Oslund recovered a fumble for the Crusaders on the 36.

Two passes and a running play put the ball on the 50-yard line before Tom Ness turned the corner and raced down the sideline, after a good downfield block by end Jim Dubord, to the Flivver nine. Another run by Ness moved the ball to the three before Dan Young used two cracks into the line to score his ninth touchdown of the season from a yard out. Jim DeGrand's extra point kick was wide of the mark and left the Crusaders with a 6-0 lead at halftime.

Forces Fumble Two plays after the second half kickoff, Holy Name's Bob McGinn dropped back to pass from his own 27-yard line and was hit hard, forcing him to drop the ball, which was recovered on the Holy Name nine-yard line by Mike McCarthy.

After a pair of runs put the ball on the six, quarterback Nick Phillips appeared to be trapped behind the line of scrimmage on third down, but before Kotlar took off on his 68-yard scamper for the touchdown, giving Kingsford a 13-6 lead at the 4:08 mark of the period. Lawrence's kick for the extra point fell short of the goal post.

Each team then took another chance with the ball before Holy Name took over on their own 36 and marched downfield in 13 plays to score again, the scoring play coming on a two-yard plunge by Young.

Important Decision Then came the all-important decision on whether to kick for the tie or try for two points and a victory. Doug Bovin, the Holy Name coach, elected to go for broke, but an end sweep by Ness was plugged up in the backfield and Kingsford still held a 13-12 lead with 8:17 left in the game.

The Crusaders got the ball back twice more before the end of the game, but six incomplete passes and two runs for short yardage failed to get them on the scoreboard.

Holy Name looked like it was going to snap out of the slump that had been plaguing them all night, on the drive for the second touchdown. Young, who had been pretty much bottled up by the Kingsford defense earlier in the game, picked up 24 yards in eight carries and McGinn was three for three in the passing department for 23 more yards.

But failing to score the winning extra points after the touchdown was a big letdown. Ness paced Holy Name on the ground with 90 yards in 12 carries while Young was held to his lowest yardage of the season, 40 in 16 carries. As a team, the Crusaders picked up 150 yards on the ground and only 49 in the air on five completions in 17 attempts.

The Crusaders are now 3-2 on the season and 1-2 in conference play. They will return to action this Friday night in their homecoming game with the Manistowish Emeralds.

Quarterback John Hadl threw for three of the Chargers' five touchdowns against the slumping Jets, who lost their second straight game. The New York ers almost made it a tie in the final two minutes but quarterback Joe Namath's pass to Bill Mathis was underthrown on a fourth down play on the Chargers' five.

Jack Kemp tossed three touchdown passes for Buffalo and O.J. Simpson ran for 110 yards in his best performance as a pro. He also caught five passes for 45 yards, including a three-yard touchdown pass from Kemp.

"People say rookies can't do this and can't do that and I was beginning to believe it," Simpson said. "I was glad to have a good day."

Upset-minded Boston stung Oakland with two touchdowns in the first 12 minutes but quarterback Daryle Lamonica rallied the Raiders with four touchdowns passes.

Houston came from behind 10-6 in the second half on the strength of Pete Beathard's passing arm and rookie Roy Gerela's foot. Taking the half-time kickoff, Beathard directed a 68-yard surge which ended in Roy Hopkins' touchdown from the six and Gerela booted three the five field goals which broke the club record of four set by George Blanda in 1965.

Amazing Bengals Stay Unbeaten

By The Associated Press

Coach Paul Brown of the amazing Cincinnati Bengals won't argue with success but he does question it.

"I don't know exactly what's doing it. It's a miracle," he said after his Bengals upset Kansas City 24-19 Sunday for their third straight victory and the Chiefs' first loss after six exhibition victories and two regular season triumphs.

In three games this year, all at home, the Bengals have equaled their winning record of last year when they joined the American Football League as a ragamuffin expansion team. They wound up in last place in the Western Division. Today, they're tied with Oakland for first.

As far as the Chiefs are concerned, however, the Bengals are for real.

"They played an outstanding game," said Chiefs' Coach Hank Stram.

"For us it was a game of missed opportunities."

Cincinnati pulled it off despite the second period injury of sensational rookie quarterback Greg Cook. Brown said later that Cook pulled a muscle in his right arm and will start against the Chargers at San Diego next Sunday.

Kansas City wasn't so lucky. Star quarterback Len Dawson was removed from the active list because of a knee injury and is expected to be out six weeks.

"I didn't want to take a chance with him if I didn't have to," Brown said in explaining why he didn't play Cook during the second half.

In other AFL games San Diego, 1-2, surprised the world champion New York Jets, 1-2, 34-27; Buffalo, 1-2, routed Denver, 2-1, 41-28; Oakland, 3-0, upended Boston, 0-3, 38-23; and Houston, 2-1, drubbed Miami, 0-3, 22-10.

Kapp Ties Passing Mark; Vikings Romp Over Colts

By The Associated Press

Minnesota's Joe Kapp handed out passes all over the place — seven to the end zone but none to the Baltimore Colts' dressing room.

Kapp completed 28 of 43 passes for 449 yards and a record-equaling seven touchdowns Sunday as the Vikings routed Baltimore 52-14 and Colts Coach Don Shula asked writers not to interview his players after their second straight loss.

Kapp tied the National Football League record of seven touchdowns passes in a game held by Sid Luckman of the Chicago Bears, Y. A. Tittle of the New York Giants and Adrian Burk of the Philadelphia Eagles. Only George Blanda, when he was with the Houston Oilers, has thrown as many as seven scoring passes in a

DETROIT (AP)—The Detroit Lions were far from awesome in their home opener—but they were hungry.

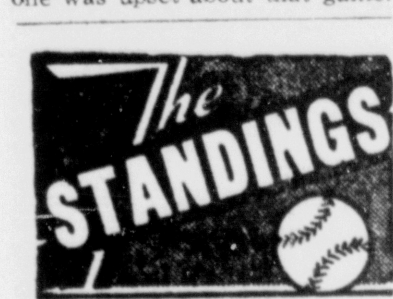

Detroit managed only 241 yards total offense, but with the help of an inspired defense the Lions blanked the New York Giants 24-0 in their National Football League game Sunday. It was Detroit's third shutout in its last five opening games at home.

"We weren't too awesome," said Coach Joe Schmidt. "We're a sound football team. We don't have a three-ring circus with the way we run our plays. We just don't teach that kind of game."

"But today everything went right for a change and we won," he added. "...These kids can win. They're a hungry ball club."

Last week the Lions lost to Pittsburgh 16-13 and Schmidt blamed the defeat on "tightness." Halfback Nick Eddy agreed.

"Up Tight" "Last week we were a little up tight," said Eddy, who made a spectacular grab of a 14-yard touchdown pass from Bill Munson in the third quarter. "Every one was upset about that game."

Adderly's Interception Saves Day For Packers

MILWAUKEE — Herb Adderly, the cagey veteran of the Green Bay Packers, made one of the biggest interceptions of a long career at County Stadium Sunday, and saved a 14-7 victory over the San Francisco 49ers in a national football league game.

With 13 seconds left in the game, and the 49ers with first down on the Packers seven — John Brodie's fourth down pass to Bob Windsor had carried 23 yards to that point — Brodie rolled to his right, faked a pass twice, and then threw toward the middle.

Windsor was in the end zone there, near the goal post, but the pass never got there. Adderly caught it on the goal, ran it out to the 11, and clutched it desperately as he fell, with the ball — and victory — in his grasp.

Open Scoring Dave Hampton got the Packers started with an 87 yard dash with the second half kick-off, the first points in what had been a dreary exchange of punts.

Then, after Brodie's pass to Clifton McNeil had produced an 80-yard touchdown pass, and a tie, on the very next scrimmage play, the Packers won the game with a 53 yard march, almost the only drive of the day which was worthy of the name.

Bart Starr capped it, as he has so many before, with a two yard scoring pass to Jim Grabowski and that, despite almost a whole quarter of further combat, and Brodie's stirring challenge, was that.

The first half ended in a scoreless tie, but the score was misleading. There wasn't quite that much offense.

No Threats In 30 minutes of trying, the Packers got within field goal range once, on their first possession of the football. Mike Mercer ended that drive on a sour note, but he had an excuse — the turf in that area in the field, after only nine minutes of use, looked like a sea of ground beef.

Strike Back But the 49ers re-established it almost as quickly. After Fran Winkler's kick-off had carried into the end zone, Brodie got the ball at his 20. On first down, he threw a deep crossing pattern to Clifton McNeil, who caught the ball, shed a tackle by Herb Adderly at the Packer 35 and ran unimpeded in for a touchdown.

In 11 plays, Green Bay had a 14-7 lead. An 11 yard pass to the rookie wide receiver, John Spillis — who started, with Boyd Dowler at tight end in deference to Marv Fleming's injured shoulder — started the surge, and an artistic pass finished it.

Take Lead Davis started it, when he fumbled a snap from center and decided to run instead of punt. Dave Robinson flagged him down at the Packer 47, and Green Bay took over there.

Coach Paul Brown of the amazing Cincinnati Bengals won't argue with success but he does question it.

"I don't know exactly what's doing it. It's a miracle," he said after his Bengals upset Kansas City 24-19 Sunday for their third straight victory and the Chiefs' first loss after six exhibition victories and two regular season triumphs.

In three games this year, all at home, the Bengals have equaled their winning record of last year when they joined the American Football League as a ragamuffin expansion team. They wound up in last place in the Western Division. Today, they're tied with Oakland for first.

As far as the Chiefs are concerned, however, the Bengals are for real.

"They played an outstanding game," said Chiefs' Coach Hank Stram.

"For us it was a game of missed opportunities."

Cincinnati pulled it off despite the second period injury of sensational rookie quarterback Greg Cook. Brown said later that Cook pulled a muscle in his right arm and will start against the Chargers at San Diego next Sunday.

Kansas City wasn't so lucky. Star quarterback Len Dawson was removed from the active list because of a knee injury and is expected to be out six weeks.

"I didn't want to take a chance with him if I didn't have to," Brown said in explaining why he didn't play Cook during the second half.

In other AFL games San Diego, 1-2, surprised the world champion New York Jets, 1-2, 34-27; Buffalo, 1-2, routed Denver, 2-1, 41-28; Oakland, 3-0, upended Boston, 0-3, 38-23; and Houston, 2-1, drubbed Miami, 0-3, 22-10.

In his first start of the season, Sam Wyche, Cook's replacement, hit tight end Bob Trumpy with an 80-yard bomb in the opening seconds of the fourth period and gave the Bengals a 17-13 lead after a scoreless third quarter.

Kapp Ties Passing Mark; Vikings Romp Over Colts

By The Associated Press Minnesota's Joe Kapp handed out passes all over the place—seven to the end zone but none to the Baltimore Colts' dressing room.

Kapp completed 28 of 43 passes for 449 yards and a record-equaling seven touchdowns Sunday as the Vikings routed Baltimore 52-14 and Colts Coach Don Shula asked writers not to interview his players after their second straight loss.

Kapp tied the National Football League record of seven touchdowns passes in a game held by Sid Luckman of the Chicago Bears, Y. A. Tittle of the New York Giants and Adrian Burk of the Philadelphia Eagles. Only George Blanda, when he was with the Houston Oilers, has thrown as many as seven scoring passes in a game in the American Football League.

In other NFL action, Los Angeles, 2-0, stopped Atlanta, 1-1, 17-7; Green Bay, 2-0, held off San Francisco, 0-2, 14-7; Cleveland, 2-0, edged Washington 27-23; Dallas, 2-0, nipped New Orleans, 0-2, 21-17; Detroit, 1-1, drubbed the New York Giants, 1-1, 24-0; St. Louis, 1-1, topped Chicago 0-2, 20-17, and Philadelphia, 1-1, outlasted Pittsburgh, 1-1, 41-27.

The Vikings "took a chapter out of Baltimore's book—striking early and controlling the ball," said Minnesota Coach Bud Grant.

Kapp, who did not play in the Vikings' 24-23, season-opening upset loss to the Giants, hit on his first six passes against the Colts and brought Minnesota its first touchdown with an 18-yarder to Dave Osborn after the first two minutes of play.

His other scoring strikes were of 83 and 41 yards to Gene Washington and of 21, 13, 1 and 15 yards to four other receivers.

Meanwhile, the Vikings' defense harassed Baltimore quarterbacks Johnny Unitas and Earl Morrall. Unitas completed just two of his 13 passes and ended up eight for 22 for 68 yards with one interception. Morrall was 12 of 20 for 127 yards and had two intercepted.

"I'm ashamed of myself and I'm ashamed of my team," said Shula. "We were not ready to play when we hit the field."

Kapp said simply, "Our offensive line did a tremendous job."

Los Angeles, now two games ahead of arch-rival Baltimore and in first place in the Coastal Division, built a 17-0 halftime lead, then held off Atlanta, Larry Smith slammed one yard for the first Rams' touchdown and Roman Gabriel threw a four-yard pass for the other.

Cleveland handed Vince Lombardi his initial defeat as Washington coach when Bill Nelson

Casper Wins Alcan Event

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Veteran golfer Billy Casper found it hard to believe in 1966 when he picked up five shots in four holes to tie and later defeat Arnold Palmer for the U.S. Open title.

And Sunday, when the California pro gained six strokes in the last three holes and defeated Lee Trevino by one stroke to win the $55,000 prize in the Alcan Golf of the Year Tournament, he didn't believe it either.

"I won't believe it until I get the check in the mail," said Casper of his surge of four birdies on the last four holes which gave him the victory when Trevino fell apart on the 16th and 17th holes.

Casper's final round gave him a 14-under-par 274 for the 72-hole tournament over the 6,541-yard Portland Golf Club course where par over 18 holes is 37-37-72. Trevino finished with a 275 and had a final round of 69.

The colorful Mexican-American was 17 under par after getting an eagle on the 15th hole. But then he bogeyed the 16th and had a disastrous triple bogey on the 17th, a 163-yard par 3 hole.

Trevino said he used the wrong club on his tee shot and landed short in the trap. It took him two strokes to get out, then he three-putted for his 6.

It was the first time the 3-year-old tournament has not been won by Gay Brewer, who finished tied for sixth with Jean Garaiade of Paris, the only foreign player to finish among the top 12. Brewer won the Alcan played in Scotland and England.

Frank Beard, the leading money winner on the American pro tour, finished third, followed by Dan Sikes and Lou Graham, both tour veterans.

Boswell Pitches Twins By Pilots

By The Associated Press

Dave Boswell hasn't been the same pitcher since he saw stars a couple of months ago... and neither has John "Blue Moon" Odum.

Boswell, knocked dizzy by Minnesota Manager Billy Martin in an Aug. 6 family battle, capped a remarkable late season surge Sunday by defeating Seattle 5-2 in the opener of a doubleheader to become the Twins' second 20-game winner.

The Pilots took the second game 4-1 behind rookie Dick Baney after Boswell posted his eighth triumph in 10 decisions since the publicized brawl and joined teammate Jim Perry in a circle of six American League 20-game winners.

New York's Mel Stottlemyre also won his 20th Sunday, beating Baltimore 3-2.

But Odum, a 14-game winner for Oakland in July, remained in a tailspin that began for him in the All-Star game as the Athletics bowed to California 6-5 in 11 innings.

Odum, who was rocked for five runs in one third inning by the National League All-Stars and has won just one game in the AL since then, hit his fifth homer of the season to snap a seventh-inning deadlock. But he blew the lead the following inning and was ejected from the game for disputing a call.

Elsewhere, Washington topped Cleveland 7-6 on Del Un-ser's 10th inning homer: Kansas City whipped the Chicago White Sox 10-3 and Detroit snatched Boston 10-3.

The Pilots managed only three hits against Boswell, 20-11, and reliever Ron Perranoski, who worked the last two innings for his 30th save of the year, in the first game at Seattle.

But they backed Baney, making his major league debut, with a 12-hit attack in the nightcap, Don Mincher driving in three runs with a double and his 25th homer to lead the way.

The Yankees rallied for two runs in the ninth, Frank Fernandez scoring the winner on a throwing error by Brooks Robinson, to overtake the Orioles. The victory brought Stottlemyre's record to 20-14.

Roger Repoz's second homer of the game, a two-run wallop in the 11th, carried the Angels past Oakland long after Odum's departure.

The Senators blew a 6-0 lead before putting out their sixth consecutive victory on Unser's homer off Cleveland reliever Stan Williams.

Ed Kirkpatrick hit two homers and Bob Oliver and Scott Northey one each, leading Kansas City past the White Sox.

Home runs by Tom Tresh, Al Kaline and Mickey Stanley propelled left-hander Mickey Lolich to his 19th victory as the Tigers belted Boston for a two-game edge over the Red Sox in the struggle for second place in the East Division.

Piston Cagers Score Victory

SAGINAW (AP) — The Detroit Pistons seek revenge against the New York Knicks tonight at Delta College in the young, National Basketball Association exhibition season.

Led by Jimmy Walker and Otis Moore, the Pistons overpowered Baltimore 115-90 Sunday night in a game at Scranton, Pa.—just a day after losing 100-90 to the Knickerbockers at the Calvin College gymnasium in Grand Rapids.

New coach Bill Van Breda Kolff indicated he was pleased with the Pistons' defensive work after beating the Bullets.

At one point in the second period, Baltimore went five minutes without scoring a point.

Walker fired in 17 points as Moore, sharing the center duties with Walt Ballamy, scored 16 points and grabbed nine rebounds. Ballamy scored 12 points and hauled in 11 rebounds.

Lion Lineman Lost To Team

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Lions today faced the prospect that offensive guard Bob Kowalkowski will be lost for the season.

The 25-year-old suffered a severe knee injury in the fourth quarter of Sunday's win over the New York Giants and was to undergo surgery today. He will be sidelined a minimum of eight weeks.

Lolich Notches Victory As Tigers Bomb Red Sox

BOSTON (AP) — Last year's World Series hero Mickey Lolich says his regular season accomplishments this year were much more satisfying and exciting than in 1968. Now he wants one more thing—the 20-victory plateau which has always eluded him.

The ace left-hander of the Detroit Tigers rode the heavy hitting of his mates to a 10-3 victory over the Boston Red Sox Sunday, boosting his record to 19-10.

"If he wants to try for No. 20 in the last game of the season at Baltimore Wednesday night, with just two days' rest, it's all right with me," Manager Mayo Smith said.

The message was conveyed to Lolich.

"I want to," he said. "Sure I'll pitch Wednesday. Just give me the ball."

Lolich knows it's unlikely he will ever again reach the pinnacle of glory and excitement which catapulted him to instant fame last October as he won three straight World Series games against the St. Louis Cardinals, including the decisive seventh game over Bob Gibson.

As far as regular season achievement goes, however, he's prouder of his work this year.

"This has been a harder year and a better year for me," he said. "After all, last year I was 17-9 with a team that won the pennant. This year I'm 19-10 with a team that hasn't won nearly as often. If the club had been winning this year the way it was last, who knows how many I might have won."

The hard-throwing southpaw also found 1969 more exciting.

"Last year I just went along winning some and losing some until I had a good streak near the end of the season," he said.

"Of course it was great to win the pennant, but my own personal performance wasn't that exciting."

"But this year I had that real hot streak at the beginning, going 13-2 up to the All-Star break. Then I hit a bad streak—just slumps have their exciting moments too. And now I have the chance for 20."

Lolich won five games in 1963 when he was only up with Detroit for part of the season, then starting with his first full year in 1964 he recorded victory totals of 18, 15, 14, 14, and 17. Thus Sunday's 19th victory marked a new personal high for him.

"Unless you want to count those three games last October and make last year a 20-game season," he said. "Personally, I always count them."

Reaching No. 19 this year proved tough, as he failed three times before getting the job done Sunday. But he's determined to give it a good shot in his one try for No. 20.

"It's very important to me," he said. "Every pitcher wants to be a 20-game winner. I've always been up around there, but I never came to the end of the season with a real shot at it before. In fact the only time I had

Braves Clinch Tie For Crown

By The Associated Press

The body is still stirring ever so slightly, but San Francisco's last gasp could come at any time now.

Atlanta clinched a tie for the National League's West Division title Sunday, beating San Diego 4-2. Then the Braves waited around like vultures for the Giants to officially die in Los Angeles. But Juan Marichal beat the Dodgers 8-1, prolonging baseball's last divisional race at least until Tuesday.

The Braves need one more victory in their two remaining games against Cincinnati or one Giant loss in their last three against San Diego to clinch the crown.

When the end comes, the last place Padres will be remembered as the team that shaped the West Division race. Atlanta is in the midst of a nine-game winning streak and six of the victories have come against San Diego. When they weren't busy losing to the Braves over the last 10 days, the Padres took two out of three from the Giants.

Elsewhere in the National League Sunday, New York the East Division champions, won its eighth straight, beating Philadelphia 2-0. St. Louis blanked Montreal 2-0, Cincinnati stung Houston 4-1 and Chicago dropped Pittsburgh 3-1.

Hot-hitting Rico Carty led the Braves to the tie-clinching victory over the Padres. He smashed a two-run homer in the first inning and then doubled home another run in the eighth.

The hits raised Carty's batting average for the season to .343. He has batted .411 for the last 18 games.

Marichal kept the Giants fading hopes alive with his 21st victory of the year. San Francisco broke the game open with a five-run sixth inning as Bill Singer failed for the fourth time to win his 20th game.

Willie McCovey brought Giant fans some small salvation by whacking his 45th homer of the year and taking over the National League lead from Hank Aaron. It is the only place the Braves trail the Giants today.

Three Met pitchers shared a four-hit shutout as New York's precocious young hurling staff extending its scoreless streak to four games and 42 consecutive innings. Gary Gentry worked the first five innings while Nolan Ryan and Ron Taylor finished up.

Bob Gibson won his 10th game, shutting out the Expos, and starting St. Louis' winning rally with a ninth inning single. After Gibson singled, Byron Browne tripled him home and then Joe Torre knocked in Browne with another hit.

Billy Williams drilled a three-run homer to account for all the Chicago runs and Bill Hands won his 20th game, beating the Pirates. It ended an 11-game losing streak for the Cubs in Pittsburgh.

Minnesota Six Trips Red Wings

BLOOMINGTON, Minn. (AP) — The Detroit Red Wings suffered their second exhibition loss Sunday night as the Minnesota North Stars handed them a 5-4 defeat.

The Red Wings had carried a 3-2 lead into the third period when the Stars exploded for three goals to win.

Red Wing goals were scored by Larry Jeffery, Gordie Howe, Frank Mahovlich and Alex Devecchio.

Howe's goal was scored on a power play with an assist from Gary Monahan.

Buckeyes Open Campaign With 62-0 Rout Of TCU

By The Associated Press

This is college football's 101st season and it's got something none of the previous 100 had—the No. 1 team of all time, according to Fred Taylor.

That would be the mighty Buckeyes of Ohio State, who opened their 1969 campaign Saturday with an imposing 62-0 blitz of Taylor's Texas Christian team.

Taylor doesn't quite go back to 1889, but he's been around long enough—17 years on the TCU staff—to qualify as an expert.

"We played Michigan State when they were No. 1," Taylor said. "We played Penn State when they had Lenny Moore and Miami when they were rated real high. We played Southern Cal and UCLA and Iowa when they were on top and Oklahoma and Louisiana State in their best years. We've played them all and I haven't seen anybody this good."

"No college team can rank with Ohio State as far as talent. I thought Purdue, which beat us 42-35 the week before, was a fine football team, but I don't feel Purdue is as strong as Ohio State. If they have the incentive to play from week to week like they did against us, no one will beat them this year. And I think they have enough incentive."

John Brockington scored three touchdowns and Jim Otis and Rex Kern two each as the Buckeyes put on a 565-yard offensive display and extended the nation's longest major college winning streak to 15 games.

Second-ranked Penn State, minus star halfback Charlie Pittman, trounced Colorado 27-3 as safetyman Neal Smith tied a school record with his 11th and 12th career interceptions.

Arkansas, ranked third, walloped Tulsa 55-0, combining a potent offense and rugged defense. Texas, No. 4, avenged two straight losses to Texas Tech and battered the Red Raiders 49-7.

Sixth-ranked Oklahoma hammered Pitt 37-8 as Steve Owens gained 104 yards and scored three times. And seventh-ranked Georgia, behind the passing of Mike Cavan, blanked Clemson 30-0.

The rest of the Top Ten all stumbled. Eighth-ranked Mississippi bowed to Kentucky 10-9 as the Wildcats, who yielded 58 points a week earlier, gave defensive-minded John Ray his first triumph as head coach.

No. 9 Notre Dame lost to Pui due 28-14 as quarterback Mike Phipps riddled the Irish secondary for 213 yards. California, down 14-0 in the first period, upset 10th-ranked Indiana 17-14 on a final-quarter 61-yard touchdown pass by sub quarterback Steve Curtis.

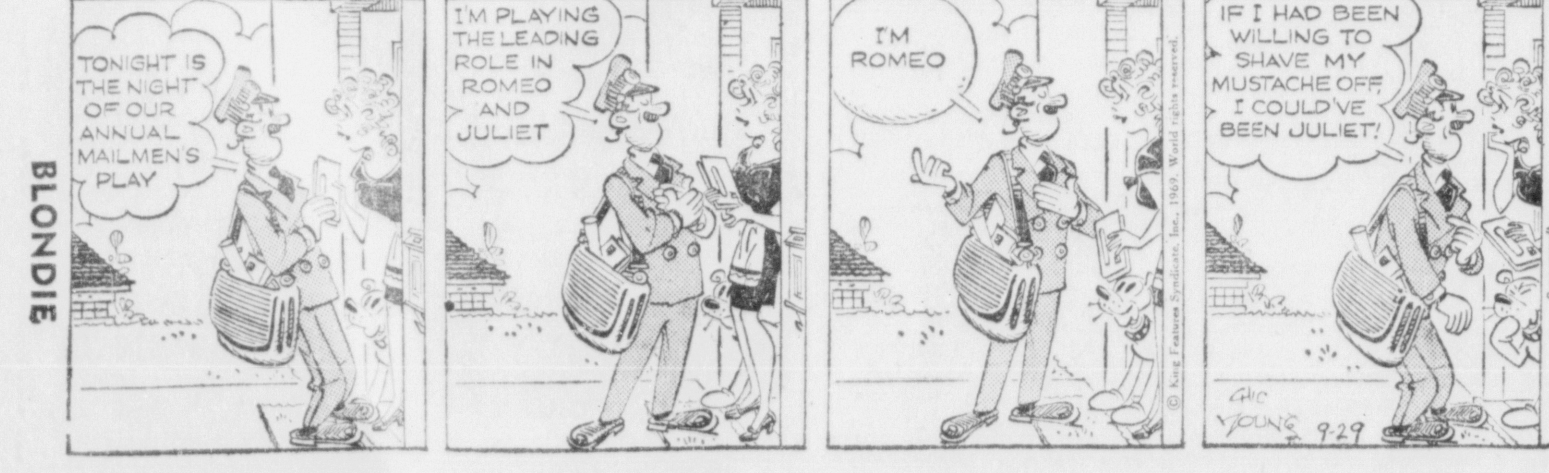

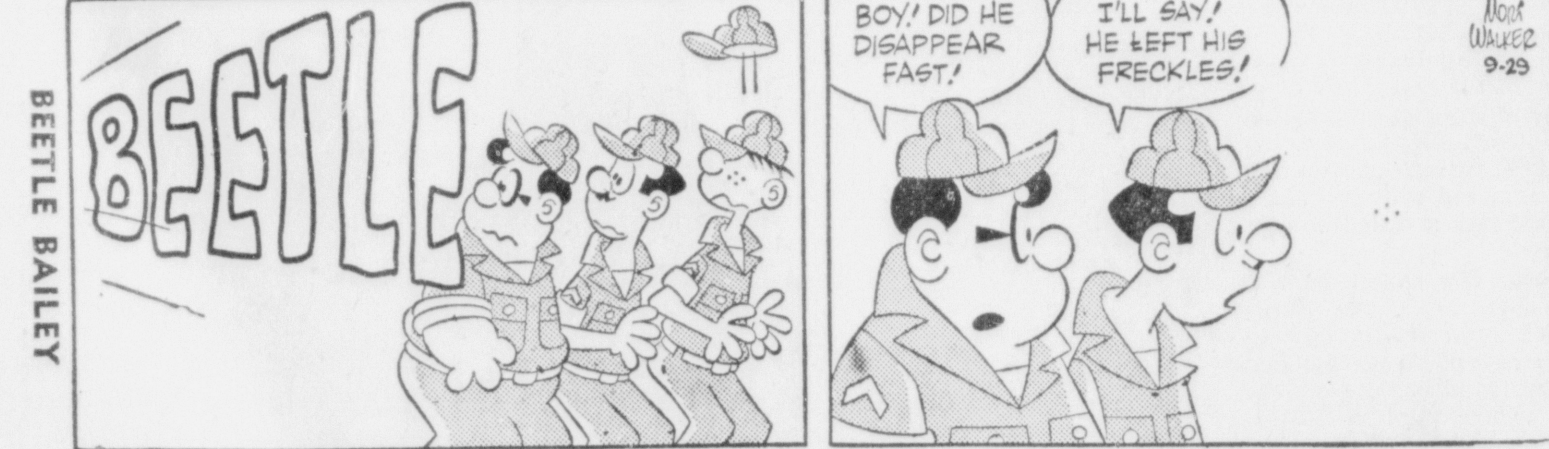

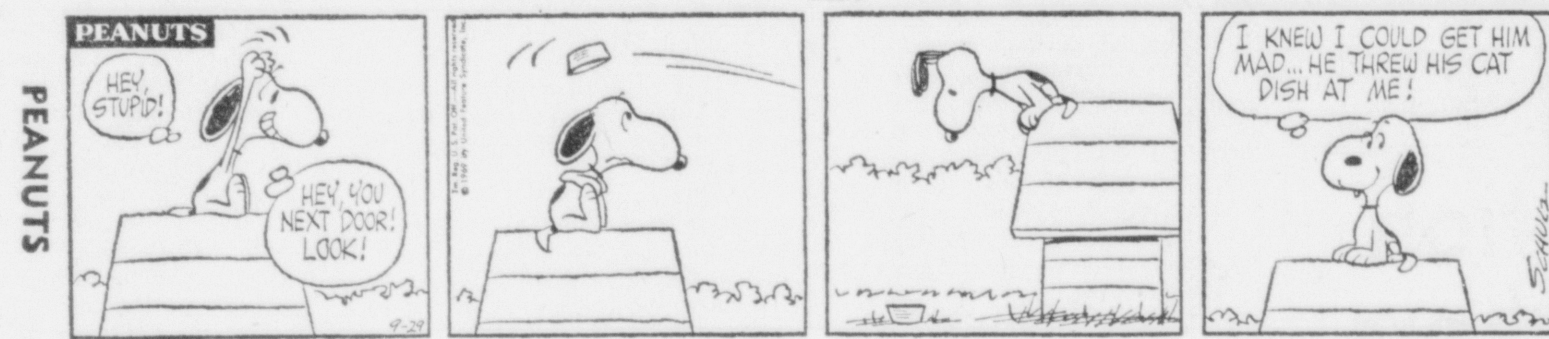

Two members of the Second Ten also tasted defeat. Auburn, No. 17, quickly fell behind Tennessee, No. 19, and suffered a 45-19 drubbing. And Oregon State surprised 18th-ranked Arizona State 30-7.

Missouri, rated 11th, thumped Illinois 37-4 behind Joe Moore's running; Florida, No. 12, outlasted Mississippi State 47-35 as super soph John Reeves fired three scoring passes; No. 13 Michigan State, stung for 244 passing yards by Southern Methodist's Chuck Hixson, still beat the Mustangs 23-15.

UCLA's pass-run combination of Dennis Dummit and Greg Bruns sparked the 14th-ranked Bruins over Wisconsin 34-23 and Alabama, No. 15, crushed Southern Mississippi 63-14.

Michigan, No. 20, mauled Washington 45-7 on Dan Moorhead scored three touchdowns and passed for another.

Washington only has to contend with Ohio State this Saturday. Lots o' luck, Washington.

Lolich's mates made No. 11 easy for him, scoring six runs in the first inning and continuing the bombardment against six Boston pitchers. He wouldn't be at all unhappy if they did an encore on Wednesday.

"It does make it a little bit easier that way," he said. "Al Kaline's 21st homer sparked the opening Detroit barrage, and Tom Tresh and Mickey Stanley added circuit clouts later in the game."

Tresh singled with one out in the first and Kaline homered for the first two Tiger runs as the Bengals opened up a two-game second place edge on the Red Sox in the American League East.

Willie Horton followed Kaline's blow with a single. Jim Northrup doubled and Bill Freehan was intentionally walked to load the bases.

Ike Brown then followed with a two-run single an out later and then a walk to Lolich and another two-run single by Mickey Stanley made it 6-0.

The Tigers send Mike Killebrew, 7-6, against Baltimore ace Mike Cuellar, 23-10, tonight in Baltimore.

New coach Bill Van Breda Kolff indicated he was pleased with the Pistons' defensive work after beating the Bullets.

At one point in the second period, Baltimore went five minutes without scoring a point.

Walker fired in 17 points as Moore, sharing the center duties with Walt Ballamy, scored 16 points and grabbed nine rebounds. Ballamy scored 12 points and hauled in 11 rebounds.

Lion Lineman Lost To Team

DETROIT (AP) —The Detroit Lions today faced the prospect that offensive guard Bob Kowalski will be lost for the season.

The 25-year-old suffered a severe knee injury in the fourth quarter of Sunday's win over the New York Giants and was to undergo surgery today. He will be sidelined a minimum of eight weeks.

Buckeyes Open Campaign With 62-0 Rout Of TCU

By The Associated Press
This is college football's 101st season and it's got something none of the previous 100 had—the No. 1 team of all time, according to Fred Taylor.

That would be the mighty Buckeyes of Ohio State, who opened their 1969 campaign Saturday with an imposing 62-0 blitz of Taylor's Texas Christian team.

Taylor doesn't quite go back to 1869, but he's been around long enough—17 years on the TCU staff—to qualify as an expert.

"We played Michigan State when they were No. 1," Taylor said. "We played Penn State when they had Lenny Moore and Miami when they were rated real high. We played Southern Cal and UCLA and Iowa when they were on top and Oklahoma and Louisiana State in their best years. We've played them all and I haven't seen anybody this good."

"No college team can rank with Ohio State as far as talent. I thought Purdue, which beat us 42-35 the week before, was a fine football team, but I don't feel Purdue is as strong as Ohio State. If they have the incentive to play from week to week like they did against us, no one will beat them this year. And I think they have enough incentive."

John Brockington scored three touchdowns and Jim Otis and Rex Kern two each as the Buckeyes put on a 565-yard offensive display and extended the nation's longest major college winning streak to 15 games.

Second-ranked Penn State, minus star halfback Charlie Pittman, trounced Colorado 27-3 as safetyman Neal Smith tied a school record with his 11th and 12th career interceptions.

Arkansas, ranked third, walloped Tulsa 55-0, combining a potent offense and rugged defense. Texas, No. 4, avenged two straight losses to Texas Tech and battered the Red Raiders 49-7.

Sixth-rated Oklahoma hammered Pitt 37-3 as Steve Owens gained 104 yards and scored three times. And seventh-ranked Georgia, behind the passing of Mike Cavan, blanked Clemson 30-0.

The rest of the Top Ten all stumbled. Eighth-ranked Mississippi bowed to Kentucky 10-9 as the Wildcats, who yielded 58 points a week earlier, gave defensive-minded John Ray his first triumph as head coach.

No. 9 Notre Dame lost to Purdue 28-14 as quarterback Mike Phipps rallied the Irish secondary for 213 yards. California, down 14-0 in the first period, upset 10th-ranked Indiana 17-14 on a final-quarter 61-yard touchdown pass by sub quarterback Steve Curtis.

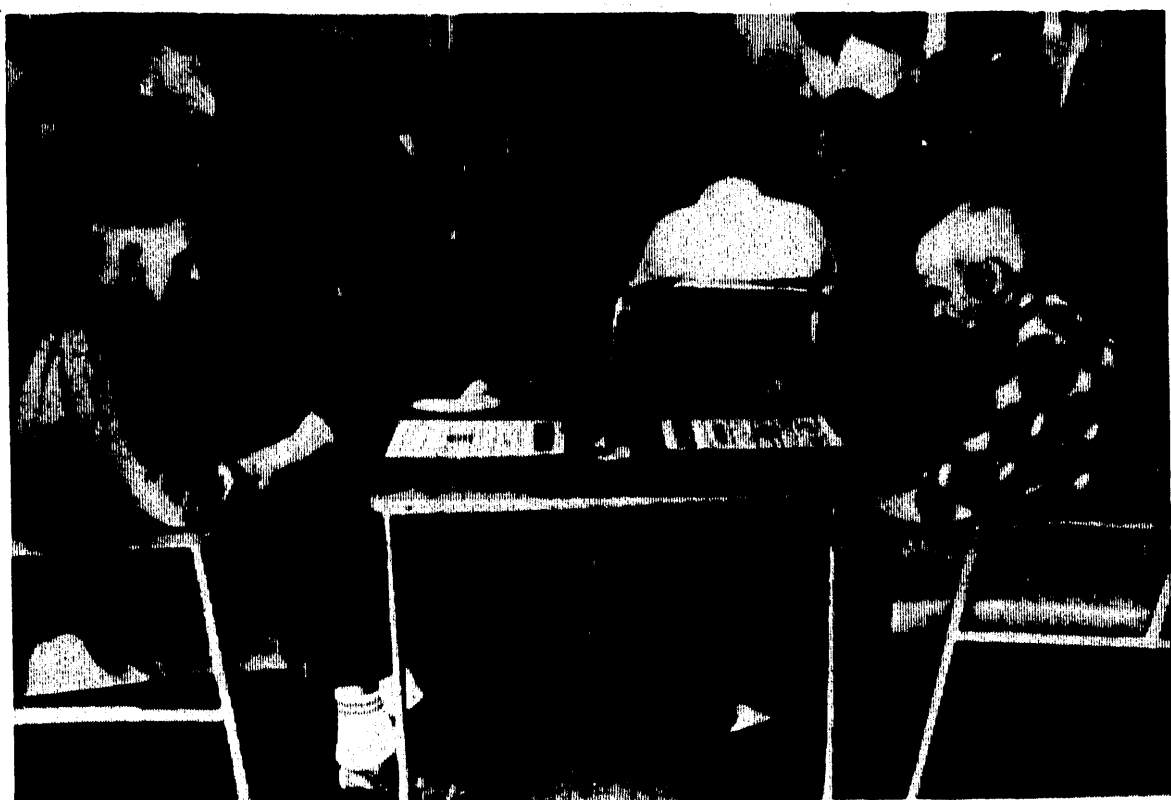

Two members of the Second Ten also tasted defeat. Auburn, No. 17, quickly fell behind Tennessee, No. 19, and suffered a 45-19 drubbing. And Oregon State surprised 18th-ranked Arizona State 30-7.

Missouri, rated 11th, thumped Illinois 37-6 behind Joe Moore's running; Florida, No. 12, outlasted Mississippi State 47-35 as super soph John Reeves fired three scoring passes; No. 13 Michigan State, stung for 244 passing yards by Southern Methodist's Chuck Hixson, still beat the Mustangs 23-15.

UCLA's pass-run combination of Dennis Dummit and Greg Jones sparked the 14th-ranked Bruins over Wisconsin 34-23 and Alabama, No. 15, crushed Southern Mississippi 63-14.

Michigan, No. 20, mauled Washington 45-7 as Don Moorhead scored three touchdowns and passed for another.

Washington only has to contend with Ohio State this Saturday. Lots o' luck, Washington.

Deficiency Of Doctors Hurts Nursing Home Care

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's nursing homes suffer a chronic deficiency in doctors. For the sick and dying, the average amount of doctor's care may be only a few minutes a month.

Of all a doctor's patients at office and hospital, the one in the nursing home is usually the last he sees.

And to a nursing home, the telephone becomes a more important medical instrument than the stethoscope.

Doctors Phoned

In state after state across the nation, an Associated Press investigation has found nurses meet emergencies by telephoning doctors who prescribe drugs without having seen their patients for weeks or months.

"Telephone medicine is a fact of life in nursing homes," said one state's top inspector.

"We'll even do it with some narcotics," said another state nursing supervisor in New Jersey. "You know how hard it is to get a doctor at 3 o'clock in the morning."

The blame for neglect falls more on America's doctors than the nursing homes.

Lack Of Time

Many doctors, already hard pressed to keep up their hospital cases, don't find the time to visit nursing home patients with any regularity. Other doctors admit frankly they feel they can do more for the patients who have a chance at life than the aged and the dying.

An Illinois nursing home operator said, "I was shocked the first time I asked one doctor, 'Why don't you come more often?' and he said, 'To tell the truth, it depresses the hell out of me.'"

Both the government and the medical profession now back the goal of a visit to nursing home patients by a doctor a minimum of once a month.

Few See Doctors

But in Topeka, Kans., a comprehensive official study of the area's nursing homes last year showed fully one-fourth of all the patients had not been seen by a doctor in at least six months.

In one large Topeka home, the total was three-fourths without a doctor's visit in half a year.

In a more recent federal-financed study of more than 100 homes throughout Minnesota, researchers computed the average amount of doctor's care per patient at less than 2 1/2 minutes a week.

A physician who manages a home in St. Paul, Minn., pointed to one of his patients and said, "that woman—her doctor hasn't seen her in five years."

With federal programs now paying $1.6 billion a year to finance most of the nursing home care in the nation through medicare and medicaid, a crack-down is on the books. But it has yet to reach the bedside.

A sleeper proposal in new standards adopted this summer for medicare, the huge program of health care for the poor, requires a minimum of one doctor's visit each month.

No Enforcement Yet

But spot checks of actual medical records showed the requirement is not being enforced widely yet.

Frank Frantz, a federal official who helped draw up the new medicare regulations, said, "The lack of a doctor is at the root of a lot of the problems in nursing homes. But I don't think the 30-day requirement will solve them."

Frantz said, "It's a question of how the doctor uses the nursing home. I think it's a difference of whether a nursing home is to be where a physician puts a person or where he practices medicine."

In nursing homes, most medical treatment is practiced by nurses or low-paid aides.

Prescription By Phone

A nurse, confronted with a crisis, telephones the patient's doctor, describes symptoms, and gets a prescription.

States usually require doctors to sign their telephone orders afterwards, but are lax on how soon they must do it. Arizona, for instance, instructs a doctor to sign the records on his next trip—but requires he visit the nursing home only once a year.

In Minnesota, nursing homes mail the doctors a form to sign, and the patient may remain unseen by the physician for weeks.

Minnesota does require that, unless a doctor spells out a specific period for a prescription, the drugs should be cut off after seven days. But enforcement is slippish.

In one Minnesota home a chloral hydrate prescription had run for six years without any specific instruction.

Inspector Embarrassed

The case embarrassed the city's inspector, who serves on the board of directors of the same church — owned nursing home in what she said "may be a conflict of interest."

House Could Foul Up Food Stamp Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Backers and critics of a liberalized national food stamp program, successful last week in the Senate, rate its chances for passage by the House at less than even.

"It's a long shot," said Rep. Thomas S. Foley, D-Wash. "I think we will pass something much less far-reaching."

A major stumbling block is the House Agriculture Committee, to which the Senate-passed measure first must go.

The version approved by the Senate exceeds by more than $2 billion the amount proposed by President Nixon for food stamps over the next three years. It also would provide free stamps to families whose incomes fall under $60 a month.

Food stamps now are purchased by low income families who redeem them for more food than they could buy with cash. The government makes up the difference.

Senate passage came after Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., bypassed the Senate Agriculture Committee and brought the bill directly to the floor.

Foley has introduced a bill similar to McGovern's and said he, too, hopes to push it on the floor. He said the Senate action puts pressure on the House to pass at least some of the liberalized program.

The Senate version authorizes spending $1.25 billion for food stamps in this fiscal year, $2 billion next year and $2.5 billion in fiscal 1972.

President Nixon recommended increasing the current amount—$340 million—to $610 million this year and $1.5 billion in fiscal 1971 and 1972.

The Senate, in a separate action, also passed a resolution boosting the ceiling for fiscal 1970 to $750 million.

This now is in Poage's committee, along with a bill extending the general farm laws.

Hart Proposes Marijuana Study

JACKSON (AP) — Michigan Sen. Philip A. Hart urged Sunday that the U.S. Surgeon-General's office begin a medical study of marijuana just as it did on cigarettes.

Hart said such a study could settle "once and for all" whether marijuana is dangerous or a relatively harmless substitute for a cocktail.

"If it is not found dangerous to society or individuals, we ought to do some rethinking about our laws," the senator said, addressing an inter-denominational youth group in Jackson.

"In view of all the doubt about marijuana, the sensible thing to do is make a definitive study. If it is found truly harmful, I think a lot of people will stay away from it," he said.

The case embarrassed the city's inspector, who serves on the board of directors of the same church — owned nursing home in what she said "may be a conflict of interest."

The inspector told the practical nurse on duty, "You don't order a drug forever, you know."

"That's what we've been doing," answered the nurse. "What else can you do? So many of our doctors aren't coming in. We have a hard time even contacting doctors by telephone."

The absence of doctors, the diagnosis from a distance and the easy use of drugs add up to an unhealthy situation in many of America's nursing homes.

In California, inspectors said half of all violations of state regulations they find in nursing homes involve problems in carrying out the patient care ordered by doctors.

Not Written Down

"Lots of times things are ordered and the nurse doesn't write it down, or she writes it down incorrectly," said Dr. Gottlieb L. Oirth of Los Angeles' health department.

One out of every seven drug prescriptions administered by a nurse is carried out wrong, according to figures cited in a study presented at a recent medical convention.

In a nursing home in a decaying neighborhood in Los Angeles, a manual of instructions for the nurses includes the section: "Critical Condition—What to Do."

Clipped to the page is a business card with the phone number of a funeral home.

Hart Proposes Marijuana Study

JACKSON (AP) — Michigan Sen. Philip A. Hart urged Sunday that the U.S. Surgeon-General's office begin a medical study of marijuana just as it did on cigarettes.

Hart said such a study could settle "once and for all" whether marijuana is dangerous or a relatively harmless substitute for a cocktail.

"If it is not found dangerous to society or individuals, we ought to do some rethinking about our laws," the senator said, addressing an inter-denominational youth group in Jackson.

"In view of all the doubt about marijuana, the sensible thing to do is make a definitive study. If it is found truly harmful, I think a lot of people will stay away from it," he said.

SOMETHING TO CROW ABOUT — Fired every 2½ minutes, this cannon scares the daylight out of crows trying to feast in corn patches. It is propane operated, makes a lot of noise and creates a lot of confusion, but fires no shells, makes no smoke and kills no birds. Colored Mayor May Find Going Rough CLEVELAND (AP) — Black and white sat cramped together inside the Ukrainian National Home on Cleveland's heavily white West Side and smiled up at the stage.

There smiling back, flanked by white politicians, sat Carl B. Stokes, the first Negro elected mayor of a major U.S. city.

Stokes was in the midst of his campaign for re-election—a drive that faces its first hurdle Tuesday when he meets Robert J. Kelly in the Democratic primary.

No Racial Harmony
And despite the smiles, the mayor's white campaign workers and the posters with their black and white lettering, racial harmony has yet to descend on Cleveland where Stokes is in what could prove the fight of his political life.

In Cleveland, as it was earlier this year in Minneapolis and Los Angeles, the issue is law and order.

Stokes' white challenger says Cleveland "has become a jungle."

Crime in the city shot up 56 per cent during the first six months of the year, according to statistics supplied the FBI by Cleveland police. The rate for violent crimes jumped 63 per cent.

Seeks Guards' Help
The situation is so desperate, Kelly declared as he began his campaign, that he would call in the National Guard to battle crime as his first official act.

Kelly, a former city traffic engineer who claims he has the support of 95 per cent of the city's more than 2,000 policemen, has gotten little attention from Stokes.

The mayor's aides, predicting victory on Tuesday, say the tough fight will come in November against County Auditor Ralph J. Perk, the first Republican to win a Cuyahoga County election in 25 years. Perk is unopposed for the GOP nomination for mayor.

Inside the Ukrainian home, Councilman John T. Bilinski, Seventh Ward Democratic leader, was nearing the end of his introduction.

"All I can say is no mayor does everything perfectly," Bilinski said. "You've got to weigh the whole record."

Mayor Stokes Speaks
Finally Stokes rose to speak. Smiling and relaxed, he waited for the polka band to stop playing and the applause to die down. Then, smiling even more broadly, he said, "Hi."

Outside the hall, Kelly described Stokes: "He's a combination of Orson Welles, and who's that little Negro dancer? What's his name? Sammy Davis. That's him, and Bishop Sheen."

Kelly has been hitting hard at Stokes' handling of the July 1968 Glenview sniping incident in which seven persons were killed, including three policemen.

Bloodshed Recalled
Rioting followed the shooting, Stokes, saying he wanted to avoid further bloodshed, pulled white policemen out of the area. The decision incensed white policemen, especially when looting and scattered burning continued.

Kelly also has attacked Stokes over a Civil Service scandal which involves charges that police examinations were leaked in advance to Negro applicants. Two indictments already have been returned.

NAACP Urges Withdrawal Of Court Choice

BATTLE CREEK (AP) — The state conference of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People has urged President Nixon to withdraw his nomination of Clement Haynsworth to the U.S. Supreme Court.

"We feel that if Haynsworth gets the appointment, the gains that have been made in the past years will be lost," Mrs. Matty Willis, a vice president of the Michigan NAACP, said Sunday. The group passed a resolution asking that the nomination be withdrawn.

At the conference banquet Saturday night, Michigan Sen. Philip A. Hart charged the Nixon Administration is undercutting responsible black leaders in its eager quest for Southern votes.

"The Administration is proving the extremists right," he said, blasting the nomination of Haynsworth.

"The militant extremists have been saying for years that blacks can expect no justice under our system. They say that the system must be changed, by force if necessary."

"And how are more responsible leaders going to be able to counsel against that type of extremist if blacks have the feeling that the federal government has turned its back?" Hart said he was dismayed by Nixon policies that are "clearly more responsive to the followers of George Wallace than the followers of Roy Wilkins."

Briefly Told

The Happy Rock Extension will hold its monthly meeting Tuesday at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Daniel Finman, 1424 Minneapolis Ave., Gladstone.

"The Administration is proving the extremists right," he said, blasting the nomination of Haynsworth.

"The militant extremists have been saying for years that blacks can expect no justice under our system. They say that the system must be changed, by force if necessary."

"And how are more responsible leaders going to be able to counsel against that type of extremist if blacks have the feeling that the federal government has turned its back?"

Hart said he was dismayed by Nixon policies that are "clearly more responsive to the followers of George Wallace than the followers of Roy Wilkins."
